Flood approaching 200-year record

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Work continued around the clock to reinforce levees against the rampaging Mississippi River, which officials said could rise to its worst flooding in 200 years.

St. Louis was bracing for its highest crest in history, 43.5 feet expected Thursday or Friday. Flood stage is 30 feet and the previous high water mark was 42 feet in 1785.

The Coast Guard in St. Louis received presidential authorization Monday night to call up reservists for a second time this month to assist in flood control. An official said 75 men would be activated immediately and another 75 would be on duty by Wednesday afternoon.

At least eight persons have drowned because of the latest flooding. They included Barbara and Lori Stuart of South Roxana, Ill., whose bodies were recovered from Indian Creek near their home Monday night after the sisters were caught in the current while wading.

The Mississippi swamped levees to the north of St. Louis Monday, flooding thousands of acres of farmland. Although the levees held, the Corps of Engineers advised many residents to leave their homes.

"The levees are holding right now, but it doesn't look good," a Corps spokesman said. "They've been battered by wave-wash and high water for so long now that a lot of them could give way at any time."

A revised forecast issued late Monday by the National Weather Service indicated new crests will be so high that levees expected earlier to hold now will probably be breached, the spokesman said.

The service said the crest forecast had to be revised because water flowing from tributaries into the Mississippi was greater than anticipated.

The crest of the Missouri River, east of its mouth north of St. Louis, was reported falling Monday at Boonville, in central Missouri. It reached a stage of 30.5 feet.

High water from the Missouri and its tributaries plagued many towns and communities in central Missouri. The most serious flooding was reported between Glasgow and Jefferson City.

Water advanced to within a block of the state capital at Jefferson City Monday and streets in the lower end of the city's business district were covered with water.

More than 3,000 residents were advised to evacuate their homes near St. Charles at the mouth of the Missouri Monday night after authorities gave up the battle to save the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad levee north of the city. Officials said they expected the levee to be topped by the rising river some time during the night.

The Missouri is expected to crest at St. Charles at 37 feet Wednesday, 12 feet above flood stage and just short of the record 37.3 foot crest of 1951.

A levee north of Hannibal, Mo., protecting Taylor, Mo., broke Monday night and waters from the Mississippi and Fabius rivers swept over some 14,000 acres of farmland. Residents of Taylor had been evacuated from their homes Sunday and flooding was reported in the town about five miles inland from the Mississippi.

Several thousand acres of farmland were flooded Sunday north of Taylor, when a levee near Canton, Mo. gave way.

The Corps of Engineers had ordered a 50 - mile stretch along the river south of Quincy, Ill., evacuated Sunday and levees in the area were reportedly within three or four inches of being topped Monday night.

At Hannical, where the Mississippi was four blocks into the town, the river stood at nearly 28 feet Monday, the highest it has ever been, and was still rising. It is expected to crest at 29 feet, 13 feet above flood stage, today or Wednesday.

East Prairie cemetery erupting

Heavy rains in the Bootheel area have begun to play havoc with the Woodmen of the World Cemetery in East Prairie. The saturated ground is causing some recently buried vaults to float to the surface, bringing many sightseers to the scene and causing some distress among the city's residents.

House in special session tonight

Abortion law may change

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri House will begin consideration of a bill to revise state laws on abortions in a special session tonight.

It will be the first attempt by either legislative branch to formulate new abortion statutes since the U.S. Supreme Court's landmark abortion ruling earlier this year.

The court struck down the abortion laws of Texas and Georgia, which permit abortions only when the life of the mother is in danger.

Missouri, along with 30 other states, has a similar law.

The high court refused to rule on a case involving Missouri's law, and ordered a Kansas City District Court to determine the status of the state's abortion law.

The House bill is a committee substitute for two bills introduced after the high court's ruling. The original bills were much stricter in their limits and regulations on abortion.

One measure, co-sponsored by Rep. William O'Toole, D-St. Louis, and Earl Schlef, D-Dellwood, prohibited the saline solution, suction and scraping methods of abortions, leaving only a method similar to a Caesarian operation.

During testimony on the bills in the committee, statistics were presented showing the only method allowed by the bill was many times more dangerous to the woman than those prohibited.

The substitute bill deletes any mention of prohibiting specific abortion techniques.

The substitute also deletes wording in both the original bills to define conception and pregnancy, which were included in the other bill, sponsored by O'Toole and Rep. Ray James, R-Kansas City.

The O'Toole-James version also prohibited the three methods forbidden in the O'Toole-Schlef measure.

The substitute requires the written consent of the woman, and if the woman is under 18 the written consent of her parents.

If the woman is married the consent of the husband is required.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled abortions within the first three months of pregnancy are a private matter between the woman and her doctor.

Court discusses elevator

BENTON — A representative from Otis Elevator Co. of St. Louis met with the Scott County Court Monday to discuss the possibility of installing an elevator at the Scott County Courthouse.

Although a set price was not given by the representative, Presiding Judge Les Lankford of Chaffee said the court felt the approximate price would be $20,000. Lankford said he didn't know if the County Court would want to spend that much money for an elevator, although it would mean the third floor of the courthouse could be utilized.

Members of the court will go to Jackson, Saturday, to inspect the elevator in the Cape Girardeau County Courthouse.

Lankford said a decision will not be made for at least six months on whether to install an elevator or not.

An elevator at the courthouse was proposed in a meeting before the County Court on April 12 as a possible answer to the problem in regard to the moving of the University of Missouri Extension Center meeting room from the second to the third floor and replacing it with the Magistrate Courtroom.

According to Lankford, the court is still undecided about what to do. "We just can't make up our minds," he said.

He also said he hopes Circuit Court Judge Marshall Craig will continue to let the Magistrate Court meet in the Circuit Courtroom until a decision is made.

Lankford said if the court does decide to install the elevator, the University of Missouri Extension Center will be moved to the third floor, but as of now the extension center has not been asked to move.

Thousands of acres flooded

Castor River levee breaks

The Castor River Sunday night topped the levee in one location and broke through a levee in another spot in Stoddard County to flood several thousand more acres of farmland.

At least three breaks in the Castor River occurred five miles east of Aquilla, near the railroad tracks on Route Y.

Water went over the top of one of the levees about two miles southwest of Shady Dell in Stoddard County. Water is topping the levee in about a 20 foot width.

A spokesman for the Little River Drainage District in Cape Girardeau said the break and water over the levee were due to "too much rain."

Heavy rainfall in the area this past weekend has caused the rivers to rise, toward new and higher crests, flooded streets in New Madrid, closed routes and highways, and a need for constant surveillance of the levee systems.

Monday afternoon, several funnel clouds were reported in the Matthews, Bernie, New Madrid and Dexter areas, although none were reported to have touched the ground or caused any damage.

The Sikeston - Portageville National Guard unit was called in Monday to help fight high water on the streets of New Madrid. The Charleston National Guard was placed on standby alert Monday afternoon at 1:07 p.m., although it has not been called in and does not know where it will go if called up.

Bob Hume of the public affairs office for the Memphis District of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers said "right now we are just trying to find out what to anticipate." He said the main line levees are overall in good condition but are saturated. They have undergone a severe test with the continued high water, he said.

Currently, there are some local wave wash problems, he added, but the corps is keeping the entire levee system under constant surveillance. At the Little River Diversion levee near Commerce, operations are now underway to spread polyethelene sheeting and sand bags to repair some wave wash on the levee.

"Basically, we know we have a lot of water out there," Hume said. "We are still trying to take a look at the current projections and see where we are."

The Memphis District of the Corps of Engineers has direct responsibility for 355 miles of the main stem of the Mississippi River. An emergency operation center has been set up in Memphis since the High waters began and will continue in operation until all high stages go down. Hume said this center maintains a 24-hour

South New Madrid is under control

NEW MADRID– City Administrator Don Lloyd said today excessive surface water in the city "is down pretty well all over town and the south half of town is under control. We have the north area still covered because of some restrictions in the channel flow, but we are concentrating on getting that opened up today.

"The Army Corps of Engineers sent in three 12- inch pumps this morning and they will be in operation late this afternoon," Lloyd said. The three pumps received today bring the total to 19, which will be operating around the clock.

While a prediction of 100 per cent chance of rain today and tonight and60 per cent chance for Wednesday makes continued progress appear dismal, Loyd said a setback would not be as great as over the weekend, because the additional pumping equipment and manpower provided by the National Guardsmen in aiding the removal of water will help lessen the accumulation.

Lloyd would not make a guess as to when sewer facilities might be restored to the high school on Highway 61, which went out of service Friday night after a major sewage lift station collapsed.

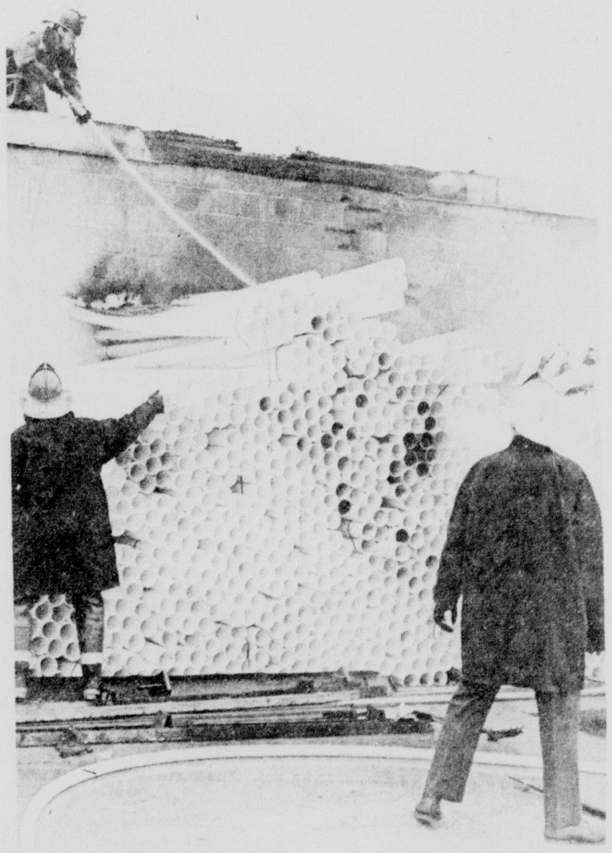

It would depend, he said, on how fast the water is removed from the north area and said they do have a plan on how to handle the problems.

There is some isolated street damage, but widespread damage is potentially developing, Lloyd said. Water is beginning to accumulate between the streets substructures and the blacktop seal, which will result in the pavement floating upwards.

There are reports of damage to basement walls and floors and water was in four homes on St. Thomas Street Monday.

National guardsmen from Company C of the 1140th Engineer Battalion of Sikeston began work Monday on a 24- hour basis in manning pumps and pump stations to assist work- weary city employes who have been combatting the flooding since Thursday around the clock. Just how long it will be necessary for the guardsmen to remain is not known.

Mrs. Libba Crisler, service to military families chairman of the New Madrid County chapter of the American Red Cross, said the organization is providing sandwiches, donuts, and coffee to the workers three times daily. Volunteers assisting her are Mrs. Dorothy Edwards, Mrs. Frances Ruby, Mrs. Joy Hendricks, Mrs. Virginia Recker, Mrs. Barbara Stoffer, Mrs. Pat Edwards, and Mrs. Sylvia Brown.

Shotgun death ruled accident

LILBOURN — The shotgun death Monday of Al Johnson, 10- year- old son of Tom and Mattie Johnson, was ruled accidental by New Madrid County Coroner Gene Clayton who investigaged with Deputy Sheriff Walte Ivy.

Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston notified the sheriff's department that the boy was dead on arrival about 9 p.m.

Clayton said he had been shot once in the right side behind the right shoulder with a 20 gauge sawed- off shotgun.

The shooting occurred at the youth's home in the North Lilbourn Delmo Project about 8:30 p.m. Clayton said the boy's 13- year- old sister was trying to get the gun away from a 5- year- old brother who was playing with it when the gun accidentally discharged and the bullet struck the victim.

The father was working at the time of the incident and Mrs. Johnson had left the home a short time to buy groceries.

No inquest will be held. The body is in Richards Funeral Home in New Madrid.

5-year-old turns in false alarm

Firemen used their telephone trap for the first time Monday to trace the location of a person turning in a false alarm -- and they caught a five- year - old boy who had just learned how to dial the telephone.

Firemen got the call about 10 a.m. but did not send any trucks because they knew it was a false alarm. The boy said his house was on fire but gave a location different from where he was calling. The telephone trap gave firemen the number the call came from.

Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer went to the house to talk with the boy and his parents.

Linnemeyer said the father got a lecture and the boy got a spanking after admitting he made the call. The father apologized and said his son had just learned to dial a telephone.

Boy threatens mom, taken into custody

EAST PRAIRIE— A 16- year- old rural East Prairie boy was taken into custody shortly after noon Monday when the youth's mother complained to the sheriff's department that her son ahd threatened to harm her after sniffing glue.

Deputy Sheriff Mike Baughman chased the youth on foot about a quarter of a mile down Highway 80 east of East Prairie before apprehending him.

A second 16- year- old youth who allegedly had taken part in the incident was also taken into custody.

The two were turned over the juvenile officer Gordon Galemore and are in Mississippi County jail at Charleston.

Charges dismissed

Assault charges against Art Garner, owner of the Rail Haven Motel on East Malone Avenue, were dismissed today in Magistrate Court after the complaintant did not show up in court.

Thomas Boyd of Chicago failed to appear in court and Judge Lloyd G. Briggs agreed with a defense motion to dismiss the case.

Boyd had complained that Garner pointed a .22- caliber rifle at him on March 8 and threatened to shoot when Boyd went to complain about a dog being in his room.

Milton Moore of Haywood City was sentenced to one year in jail on charges of driving without a license. It was the fourth time he had appeared in court on that charge. Charges of improper registration were dismissed. Moore also faces charges of speeding and resisting arrest in Sikeston City Court.

Raymond Patterson of Charleston Route One was sentenced to one year in jail on charges of car theft. He allegedly took an automobile from SeMo Motor Company for a test drive and did not return it.

A new attorney was appointed by the court to represent Eric Draper, 106 Westgate, who is charged with breaking into Lewis Furniture Co. on West Malone Avenue and stealing three television sets, one tape deck, an amplifier and a record player.

Ardean (Smokey) Johnson of Route One was placed on two- year probation after pleading guilty to assaulting Charles Long with a shotgun.

Robert Louis Blackman was placed on one- year probation on charges of driving a car without the owner's permission. He was fined $30 for driving without a license.

Lola Wilson, Jon Don Acres, was placed on two-year probation on a bogus check charge. A preliminary hearing for Danny C. Householder, Jon Don Acres, on a charge of possession of narcotics paraphenalia was set for May 1. A stealing case against Mike Jennings of Bernie was continued to May 22. Auto theft charges against Ricky Ayers of Bernie and Edward Hobgood of Bernie were continued to May 22.

NEW RULES FOR BABY SITTERS

That "times have changed" is indicated by a "Tips For Baby Sitters" flyer now being distributed by police in a wealthy suburb of Washington, D. C. In addition to the old-time "tips" such as: know each child's name and age; does he need special medicine; locate nearest outside exit from room in case of fire, etc., the pamphlet includes such additional advice as: Check all outside doors and lock them; do not let anyone in the house or open the door if you don't know the caller; in circumstances which arouse your suspicion, CALL THE POLICE; report suspicious circumstances to parents when they return home, etc.

It's a new, and sad day, when baby sitters have to be crime- watchers, too.

The National Association of Manufacturers has urged both business and labor to "make every effort to live within the voluntary standards" of President Nixon's Phase III program for wage and price stabilization. This will serve as an important means to the earliest possible elimination of controls, the Association stated. Reliance for protection against inflation should be placed on sound government fiscal and monetary policy and on strict limits on federal spending. And American industry should unleash a greater effort to increase productivity in the manufacturing and services industries of the nation in order to improve our competitive position both at home and abroad.

We read where the National Association of Counties has predicted the federal spending cutbacks "can be a fiscal, economic and political disaster."

The only disaster is that local levels of government will have to figure out ways to raise taxes to pay for the social services that the people of states and localities demand. Control of taxing and spending would then move closer to the people, and that's where it ought to be anyway. None of us are used to this.

The change, like anything else good for us, probably will be painful. Yet federal spending has to be controlled. If past trends in the cost and growth of the federal bureaucracy and federal social programs is continued, there will be "... a fiscal, economic and political disaster" of such proportions as to stagger the imaginations of most of us.

Certain rights and values are fundamental to human freedom. One of these is the right of private property ownership. Not so long ago, it was true that a warranty deed was a valuable document giving the individual a right to stand on his property, defend it against all comers, improve its value and benefit therefrom. Government had the right by eminent domain to condemn private property for "fair" compensation to permit construction of such things as a highway or railroad. But short of this, the property owner used to be protected by the law in his ownership of a valuable material asset.

Not so anymore. The owner of property still has to pay his taxes to support schools and county government, but to an increasing degree he no longer has the right to use his property as he sees fit. Across the U.S., changing land use rules make it possible to spend $10,000 or $15,000 or more for a piece of land only to find that local planning authorities, operating under zoning and land use ordinances, will not allow use of land -- even for construction of a private home. This amounts to destruction of property values by ordinance in which the individual's right to use his own property is wiped out by what is alleged to be the public interest in long-range planning which may never come to fruition during the lifetime of many property owners.

Private ownership of land is a fundamental of human freedom and that has a very high value. It would seem that the public interest would be best served if every effort were made to accommodate new planning procedures with due regard for the importance of preserving what, in a free society, must remain a fundamental right of the individual to own, develop and preserve the value of real property.

BOND NEWS FUNNEL UPSETS SENATORS

Jefferson City — The new centralized public relations office of Missouri is attempting to control news releases about bipartisan boards and commissions, the Missouri Senate was told yesterday.

Sen. William Cason (D-Clinton) charged the Missouri Information Service is requiring news be funneled through a central office where it is sometimes changed before being given to the news media.

Members of the Senate Appropriations Committee disclosed Monday that funds appropriated for other uses are being diverted to pay for the new program, which the Legislature has not approved.

"If former Gov. Warren Hearnes had done this sort of thing, there would have been several people up in orbit including me," Cason said.

Robert L. James, assistant to the governor, has said the program is valuable and that the service produces news releases, takes photographs and provides radio tapes about state news announcements.

The discussion began when Sen. Paul Bradshaw (R-Carthage) proposed that the Office of Administration be given greater power to reorganize and abolish agencies under the state reorganization plan now being debated in the General Assembly.

Sen. Albert Spradling (D-Cape Girardeau) said the Office of Administration already has too much power. He cited as an example the creation of the public relations program without legislative approval.

"There ain't no sunshine any more," Spradling said. "People elected your man to be governor, but I don't think they elected him to be king."

Spradling also asked senators to dial a telephone number he had been given. "When I dialed the number I thought it was going to be a prayer and instead it was the governor," Spradling said.

The number, which may be dialed by Missouri broadcasting stations to receive direct radio feeds about state government, is connected to the boardcast section of the Missouri Information Service. Reporters dialing the service yesterday found that news and commentary about the governor and one of his appointees was on the tape.

No identification is provided saying the material is from a public relations office. Instead listeners are told at the end of the tape: "From the Missouri State Captiol, this is Bruce Holmes."

Bruce Blomgren, director of the program, who uses the name Holmes on the tape, said he does not believe listeners are being deceived into believing the material is being provided by an independent newsman.

The Federal Communications Commission requires that television public relations handouts be identified as such on the air, but no such requirement exists for radio.

"After all we are at the state capitol," Blomgren said, adding that identification on the air of the material as a public relations offering "would make it cumbersome."

The proposed budget for the Office of Administration under the governor includes listings for an information director to be paid $15,972 a year and three information specialists at a total of $32,256. Other amounts are included for clerical employees and operating funds.

In other action yesterday the Senate debated the proposed Department of Higher Education in the state reorganization bill. The measure implements a constitutional amendment approved by voters in August.

The Senate agreed yesterday to give a proposed co-ordinating board for higher education broad powers over admissions requirements and student transfer provisions of public colleges and universities. Provisions for similar control over private schools was eliminated by amendments.

BELATED BONUS IDEA IS NO GOOD

Belatedly, the Legislature seems in a fair mood to pass a War II Veterans Bonus after 28 years have passed.

Even though the editor is a War II veteran and would probably receive a substantial sum, he is against it for two chief reasons.

One is that it would be paid from Federal Revenue Sharing Funds and we believe that money would be of greater benefit to veterans and everyone else if spent for such things as rural water districts, sewage treatment facilities, rural electrification, hospital or nursing home grants, and many others we could name.

The other is that after 28 years many of the veterans have died and the belated small bonus would not benefit them. It is also true that as the 28 years have passed, most of the veterans have either financially advanced enough to take care of themselves, or have starved to death if they were waiting for the state to help them by providing a cash bonus.

Americans throw away in a single year; 80 billion metal cans, 34 billion glass bottles, 40 million tons of paper, 7 million old cars and trucks, nearly 8 million TV sets and more than 3 million tons of plastic materials.

U.S. News & World Report points out that recycling, despite all the fanfare and headlines, is making scarely a dent in this mountain of trash. The volume of materials reclaimed to be used again not only is relatively small, but too often there are no buyers.

Meanwhile, the nation's trash increases more and more. In 1972, Americans produced an average of nearly 30 tons of waste per person. That will increase by an estimated 5 per cent this year.

Less than 2 per cent of the raw materials used by industry -- not including food or energy -- are derived from recycling, according to officials of the Environmental Protection Agency. They add that this proportion is decling in spite of all efforts to reclaim more from trash piles.

Many ideas of how to increase use of recycled materials are being projected as Congress prepares to revise the Resource Recovery Act of 1970, which expires June 30.

Samuel Hale, jr., head of solid - waste division of the Environmental Protection Agency, outlines these key points:

-- Initiatives to encourage greater use of recycled goods. These include studying possible changes by the Interstate Commerce Commission in freight rates for such goods, and encourageing the Federal Government to buy more products containing secondary material.

-- Federal guidelines for States and local waste- disposal programs, but no new money for resource-recovery demonstration plants.

-- State and local responbility to build and pay for improved waste- disposal systems, with the Federal Government providing technical assistance.

YOUNG PEOPLE ARE THE HOPE OF THE U. S.

Republic USA is blessed with so many wonderful young people that it is almost a miracle. We all need to pause ever so often and give thanks for the vast majority of good young people who bless our land.

A good thing to do is to notice good works by good young people and call attention to them. Letters to the editor provide an effective means to help publicize the good works of young people and to counteract the excessive publicity given to the few destroyers who clutter up the national news networks.

Our good young people know that freedom is vital and that liberty is not filth and bad manners and dirty clothing and dirty words. Youth seeks knowledge and a cause, but most of all youth wants to know that we seasoned campaigners believe in liberty and God and country and are willing to stand up and work for what we believe in.

Youth is impatient, and we should be thankful for it. The problem is that young people have not been taught about Freedom and how Freedom has made it possible that they don't have to worry about epidemics or famine wiping out millions of lives in one season, as happens in lands whose founders did not pass on to youth a heritage of Freedom.

Youth wants to enjoy. Freedom can be much more fun, for young and old alike, than following along with the herd of destroyers who hate Freedom and humanity. Good young people are organizing and passing the word to their peers that outwitting the enemies of Freedom is much more fun than falling in with their plans and being used to destroy Freedom. Youth is the hope of the future and will be the salvation of Republic USA. HLH'

Construction Unions Lashed:

Dramatic Lawsuit Could Make History By Ending Labor's Powerful Immunity

PHILADELPHIA -- Members and some leaders of some of the most powerful unions in this city of brotherly love have been showing their fraternity in rather bloody fashion, according to Justice Dept. records, regional police blotters, bright young federal investigators--- and documents in a lawsuit brought against 52 construction unions and four labor councils.

This is a most unusual legal action. Among other matters in this suit is a request in the federal court here for relief from such sundry matters as attacks by clubs, baseball bats, crowbars, paint bombs, axes, bricks, fires, hammers, pick handles, pistol- whipping, riots and stones. Bulldozers have been destroyed; ribs and heads cracked; legs broken, and one man almost blinded.

This action filed here by a contractor and the non- union (open shop) Associated Builders and Contractors, Inc., is unique, indeed.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce is in the action with the other two plaintiffs. Thus the C- of- C, speaking for 5 million business firms, has thrown its heavy national weight and influence into this fight. They charge that building and construction unions in the greater Philadelphia area, which means parts of New Jersey and sections reaching into Pennsylvania counties west of here, have harassed non- union contractors for years.

And that the time has come to stop. And that the unions are in restraint of trade, trying to monopolize the huge industry and thus affect prices and business.

Further, the three plaintiffs jointly argue that the alleged monopoly is in favor of unionized contractors; that there is a conspiracy on the part of the unions, certain businesses and lending institutions to prevent non- union contractors from doing business in the region; and that suppliers and money credit sources have been intimidated in an effort to drive the non- union companies out of business by depriving them of customers.

There have been riots. There has been cruel violence. That's the record at least since January 1964. It has been probed by a crusading specialist, Mike Sloane of the Justice Dept.'s Management and Labor unit. There reportedly is continuing violence. Sloane and his colleagues here are preparing evidence for a federal grand jury.

There are philosophical and moral issues here as well as those grimly, sometimes ghastly, physical ones. There has been destruction of machinery, buildings and trucks. And there have been brutal beatings of men on construction jobs--- non- union jobs. There is no doubt of the right of local, regional, and national unions to attempt to unionize unorganized firms (open shop employers). But a crowbar is not a cardboard placard.

Why then is all this not a matter of concern to the many forthright national building and construction union general presidents who mass their men in huge legislative conferences, lobby on the Hill, and sign their names to statements seeking international justice and peace?

Who is responsible for this violence?

And is it ever justified in a drive for any cause--- especially by hard hats who have sung out so strenuously against campus destruction these past few years?

But apparently, according to the suit filed here, the objective of the 56 construction union defendants is not to unionize the open- shop contractors.

"There is no bona fide labor dispute between the defendant unions and plaintiff Altemose or other open- shop contractors," says the plaintiff's brief. "Defendants have expressly disavowed any interest in organizing the employees of Altemose and other open- shop contract "The purpose of defendants' acts is not to negotiate with plaintiff Altemose or other open- shop contractors for wages, hours, and conditions of employment or to obtain agreements on those or other matters which are legitimate labor union activities."

And there are other charges made in the court document by the Chamber of Commerce, the Associated Builders and Contractors, Inc. and the Altemose Construction Co.:

"The primary objective of the conduct and acts of the defendants is to restrain competition in the offering of construction services and the purchasing of such services by construction users...(and) to eliminate free competition in the construction industry in the Greater Philadelphia area by eliminating open- shop contractors from the construction industry by forcing them to cease doing business."

This is to say that the plaintiffs mean that the unions want to gain control of the construction industry in the area "for themselves and the union contractors by the creation of unlawful monopoly."

So the three plaintiffs have brought this action as a civil suit under the Clayton and Sherman anti- trust laws.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce and its joint plaintiffs want the court to grant them relief from harassment, from what they charge is monopoly-- and, in effect, for the first time to put unions under the anti- trust laws.

This would set a national precedent. It would, if supported by the courts, end labor's immunity from anti- trust and anti- monopoly laws. This case is a sleeper. Watch it.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Chapin Admits Hiring Saboteur, Says It's Not Taxpayers Business

WASHINGTON-- President Nixon's recently resigned appointment secretary, Dwight Chapin, has confessed to a grand jury that he received regular written reports on the Democratic presidential candidates from Donald Segretti.

Earlier, Segretti refused to answer questions, on grounds of self- incrimination, about his activities as a Republican spy- soboteur.

Chapin swore behind closed doors that he hired Segretti, directed his activities and received reports in the mail from him. The reports contained information, which Chapin described as "virtually useless," on Sens. George McGovern, Hubert Humphrey, Ed Muskie, Henry Jackson and Gov. George Wallace.

"What have you done with these reports?" asked prosecutor Earl Silbert.

"I destroyed them," said Chapin, "usually the day that they were received. And if I may add, they were just one or two lines. It was something, for example, of 'Muskie rally, poor attendance, people unenthusiastic. Candidate was 40 minutes late,' or something."

'No One's Business'

Under bristling cross- examination, the handsome, haughty Chapin offered no explanation for apparent contradictions and once he declared imperiously that the employment of Segretti to sabotage the Democratic presidential campaign was none of the taxpayers' concern.

Chapin said he had given Segretti general instructions to go ahead with a sabotage campaign and had obtained White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman's approval afterwards.

"In other words," asked prosecutor Seymour Glanzer incredulously, "somebody had condoned it after you decided to do it. Where in the world would you get the idea that you had authority to go out and do it?"

"Well, I had authority to do a lot of things," retorted Chapin. "I had the authority to plan a presidential trip to China. I sure as hell had the authority to go and do some other things."

'Who Asked You To?'

"But somebody asked you to plan the trip to China, didn't they?" Glanzer shot back, "...namely, the President."

"Yes."

"All right," pressed Glanzer, "who asked you to go out and recruit somebody to do (political sabotage work)?"

"I don't know that anybody asked me to do it." Chapin conceded only that Haldeman had given his approval.

He described Segretti as "an astute person who knows what is going on and he knows what the issures are."

"But the reports he sent back," Glanzer noted, "you said were virtually useless."

"That's right," admitted Chapin. "I think you've got to put it in perspective. He probably was just in an infant stage..., he was in a learning process when he was sending that stuff. It was absolutely useless to us. I don't believe that we ever got one piece of information from Mr. Segretti in any way, shape or form that was useful...."

'Wasn't That Naive?'

"What steps," asked Glanzer, "did you take to make sure that this man, who was very bright yet in an infant stage, would not do something that would be embarrassing for the White House?"

"None."

"Wasn't that," broke in a juror, "rather naive for a gentleman like yourself who had been through so many campaigns prior to this, Mr. Chapin?"

The former presidential appointment secretary testified that he asked President Nixon's personal attorney, Herbert Kalmbach, to pay Segretti but gave him no guidance on how Segretti was earning his money. Chapin also insisted he had no idea what financial arrangements were worked out.

"How," asked prosecutor Donald Campbell, "was Mr. Kalmbach to know the scope of Mr. Segretti's activities in order to know what expenses or what monies he would have to allow Segretti for expneses?"

"I don't know," shrugged Chapin.

"I mean he had no way of knowing whether he would get two dollars a week or two thousand dollars a week, right?"

"That is correct."

No Guidance

"You never gave Mr. Kalmbach any guidance in that respect?" asked Campbell incredulously.

"No."

"Isn't that a little unusual?"

"It may be unusual," responded Chapin, "but that's true."

A juror, citing newspaper accounts that Segretti was paid a $16,000 salary and expenses, asked: "Isn't that pretty high for somebody to do such low-grade work?"

"I think that's a subjective thing," said Chapin.

The juror asked about Segretti's work as a legal assistant in the Army before he was discharged and went to work for the Republicans as a political spy- saboteur.

"He wasn't getting that salary in the Army, was he?" broke in Glanzer.

"I don't know if he was getting that salary in the Army," replied Chapin. "As a taxpayer, I would like to complain if he was."

"Well it might be," snapped Glanzer, "that taxpayers want to complain about him getting that salary doing the work he was doing (for the Republicans)."

"That's none of their concern," retorted Chapin. "This is private enterprise."

NEW YORK (AP) — A man with too many worries is like a man with too much money. They can go to his head and give him trouble.

A man with too few worries is like a man with too little money. He doesn't get much sympathy or attention.

One way to keep your worrying in balance is to weed out periodically the worries you can't really do much about or don't feel excited about anyway.

For example, here are a few worries I have decided not to fret about — at least for the moment:

Scientists expect the climate to change slowly during the 21st century. But will it get colder or hotter? I'm going to let posterity handle this problem.

Why didn't anybody put his finger in the dike at Watergate?

Will women's skirts go higher or lower? When?

Isn't there some way to make professional athletes happy besides giving them more money than they know what to do with gracefully?

If the government puts a tax on breathing, will it do so at the source? Will we all have to wear tax meters on our noses? Well, then, will it be illegal to breathe through your mouth?

What new hobby will Frank Sinatra take up to cheer his golden years?

From what you have seen of it so far, when do you think the younger generation will pay off the national debt?

Why do psychiatrists, who have to think a lot, also tend to drink a lot?

Who was the bigger liar — the guy who named near beer or the guy who named free love?

Isn't it really high time that somebody did something about it all, whatever it is?

The Sikeston Bulldog thinclads, without the services of Tom Dunaway, one of their stars, had to take third place yesterday in the Poplar Bluff relays, finishing behind the Bluff and Kennett. Despite the third place, Sikeston had one of its school records broken by Don Lewis in the mile run. Lewis, who finished third, set the new Sikeston record of 4.53.5. The old mark was 4.55.5.

Charles Harvey Harrison, 72, a general contractor, working on a window in the remodeling of the upstairs of the Carroll home, 101 North Stoddard, suffered a heart attack this morning and fell off the ladder on which he was working, dying a few minutes later from coronary thrombosis.

Twelve Sikeston High School junior boys have been selected to attend the annual Boys' state, June 13- 20, at Warrensburg, under the auspices of the American Legion, according to Tanner C. Dye, chairman of the boys state committee. The students are: Larry Jenkins, Joe Miles, Maurice McGill, Leslie Chandler, Melvin Dace, Bob Stearns, David Morris, Douglas Singleton, Fred Stewart, Neil Lewis, Charles Layton and Harry Blanton.

Troop E of the State Highway Patrol has a new lieutenant-- Eldridge E. Dampf, who for the past 10 years has been in charge of the Sikeston zone as sergeant. Effective May 1, Lt. Dampf will work in and out of the Poplar Bluff district office of the Patrol.

The Scott County Welfare Office, forced to find larger office space, will move from the Benton office into the upstairs of the old Carroll home, 101 N. Stoddard, according to Mrs. Paul Trotter, county welfare director.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Waldman, formerly of Sikeston and now residing in Cape Girardeau, announce the birth of a daughter, Elizabeth Ann, yesterday at Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape. Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Waldman and Mr. and Mrs. E.E. Caldwell, are the grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young of New Madrid are parents of a baby girl born on the 22nd at the Delta Community Hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Hendricks of Route 1, Gideon on the 22nd.

Pounding out eight hits, while receiving five free passes and two hit batsmen, the Sikeston Bulldogs pounded out their sixth win of the season, as they trounced the Illmo-Fornfelt Rams, 6- 1 at Illmo-Fornfelt yesterday.

MACC to hold public hearing

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Air Conservation Commission will hold two sessions — a public hearing and a regular meeting — Wednesday at the Plaza Inn in Kansas City.

A public hearing on the compliance schedules submitted by air contaminant sources which have not yet demonstrated that they are meeting the state's clean air regulations will begin at 2:00 a.m.

Following the public hearing, the regular commission meeting will be held in the afternoon, and compliance plans presented at the morning hearing will be considered for approval.

The commission also will consider variance requests from the Columbia Municipal Power Plant; CPC International of North Kansas City; and the Marblehead Lime Co., Hannibal.

A two- month variance extension for the Joplin city landfill also will be considered.

Other items on the agenda include discussion of a traffic-control strategy to meet carbon monoxide standards in the Kansas City metropolitan area and a report on the status of suits currently in progress against Missouri polluters.

Hahn speaks on oil shortage

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The midwestern oil shortage could be alleviated by using some of the crude oil exported to Japan and Germany, John R. Hahn, executive secretary of the Missouri Oil Jobbers Association, said Saturday.

Han, in an interview on radio station KWOS, applauded President Nixon's action in relaxing oil imports, but said he would like to see more action toward control of the situation rather than reaction to it.

"I would like to see an immediate halt to exportation of crude oil to Japan and Germany," he said.

"I think the public would be astounded to know," the oil wholesalers association official said, "to know that in the last 12 months we exported from this country a million barrels of crude oil and 81 million barrels of refined fuel to Germany and Japan.

"I'd like to see that product used in this country ... I'd like to see the president declare oil-short areas such as in cases of droughts and natural disasters."

The United States collects 68,000 barrels a year of crude oil on royalties for drilling on government land and on offshore oil leases but under the law is entitled to 268,000, Hahn said.

Symington to receive degree

FULTON, Mo. (AP) — An nonorary degree of doctor of political science will be presented to Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., at ceremonies at Westminster College May 5.

Symington will deliver the principal address at the university's alumni meeting, to be held that day. His sons, Stuart Symington Jr., a St. Louis attorney, and James W., a U.S. Congressman for Missouri, will attend.

Burlison addresses group

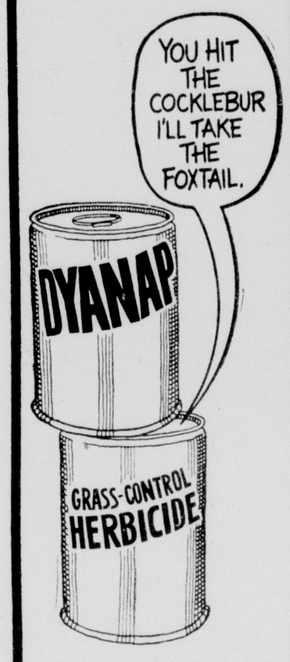

MALDEN — "House-Senate conferences this week reduced the authorizations for the Older Americans Act of 1973 from $1.5 billion to $500 million, 10th District Rep. Bill D. Burlison told a senior citizens organization Monday night.

Burlison said the act carried some new programs for senior citizens and enlarged on some that had proved successful in the past.

The Cape Girardeau Democrat said the failure of Congress to override earlier presidential vetoes on other measures influenced the Democratic leadership to compromise with the administration in order to get a bill approved.

Burlison also discussed some of the specific programs in the Older Americans Act and other legislation before Congress affecting senior citizens.

What's the law?

The case of the reluctant GI

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Several months after being drafted into the Army, Alvin felt like he had been mentally drawn and quartered. Consequently, he cited his extensive religious training and his sincere religious beliefs against war and demanded his immediate discharge from service as a conscientious objector.

"You've got to be kidding," responded an Army officer. "If you were a conscientious objector, you should have said so before you were inducted. Not it's too late. When you enter the Army you don't do it through a turnstyle. Once you're in, you're in!!"

"Well to tell you the truth, was Alvin's answer, "I didn't know I was a conscientious objector until after I finished basic training. And even then I wasn't too sure. The clincher was a course I was given in special weapons. When it was through, so was I.At that point, I knew for sure that my religious convictions would never permit me to be a soldier. It just hit me like a 500 millimeter shell."

When his demand for a discharge was turned down, Alvin took the matter to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you bar Alvin's discharge for his not claiming conscientious objector's status before induction?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that Alvin could not be denied a discharge as a conscientious objector merely because he claimed that status after his military training had begun and because he had waited until his views on the subject had formulated. If in fact, concluded the Court, he was truly sincere in his views and they are actually the products of his religious training and beliefs, he could not be denied a discharge because of the delay.

Miami's gay population wants Ann's apology

Ms. Landers: I am sending you a copy of my recent letter to the editor of the Miami Herald in which I take exception to a column you wrote dealing with homosexuality. You said "... homosexuality is unnatural. It is, in spite of what some psychiatrists say, a sickness-- a disfunction."

I told the editor that I am a member of Miami's gay population and I do not read the Miami Herald for the purpose of finding myself (and 20 million of my sisters and brothers in the United States) referred to as "unnatural, sick or dysfunctional." I feel you owe the gay community of Miami an apology. Such blatant use of the language would not be tolerated by members of other minority groups. I find no reason why we should accept it.

The homosexual who wrote to you (he signed himself "One") bemoaned the fact that he and his lover could not hold hands in public, or dance together, or kiss if they felt like it. He pointed out that what the world needs is more love-- any kind of love. Your shallow reply allowed as how the world wasn't ready for THAT sort of thing because "it doesn't fit into our cultural pattern," or some such nonsense.

Apparently you're living in a sheltered environment, Ann Landers. My lover and I hold hands and kiss in public all the time. But it must be done naturally, without shame or spectacle. What could be more natural than two people in love holding hands and kissing?--- C.A.L., Miami Sexual Identity Crisis Center

Dear C.A.L.: From the day that column appeared in print I've been swamped with letters the likes of which I haven't seen since I printed my Omaha sister's meat loaf recipe.

The mail ran the gamut, from soft- spoken requests that I rethink my position to hysterical obscenities and threats.

I have re- thought my position and I believe my original conclusion is correct. Homosexuality is unnatural. Individuals who prefe- members of their own gender as sex partners are sick.

I noted your organization's motto at the bottom of the stationery: "A place for Hearing, Helping and Healing."

Hearing and helping are noble goals and I have deep respect for what you are trying to accomplish. But that word "healing" caught my eye. Healing, according to the dictionary, means "to make whole, to make sound--- to restore to health." Thank you for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: My steady and I are both 17 and have gone together for two years. We get along great most of the time, but when we fight it's horrible. We both have hot tempers and we end up hitting each other. (Usually I hit him first.) I've had some pretty ugly black and blue marks from where he punched me.Once I dislocated his jaw. We want to be married when we get out of school. I'm taking typing and shorthand so I can hold a good job and help put him through vocational school. But I worry about the fights. He says we won't have any fights after we are married because all our problems will be solved. What do you think?-- Mike's Kitten

Dear Kitten: I think when you are married you will fight and hit each other even more because there will be irritation from new problems that are bound to come up when people live together. Lots of luck. You'll need it.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Kochel

Many things determine child's individualism

By Sharen K. Hunt
AREA HOME ECONOMIST

What makes up an indiviual? What determines his behavior? It is a composite of all that has happened to him up to this time: development of inherited tendencies, effects of prenatal environment and birth, our experiences during infancy and childhood, parents' attitudes, expectations and demands, relations with other family members and experiences with children and adults outside the family. This is what makes us all unique.

Unique is a necessary word in dealing with pre-adolescents and understanding them. Though his personality is well-formed by the time a child is 10, we are still influenced by each situation and relationship all through life, because development is never static. During the pre- teen years, parents often feel pushed aside. Peers, groups and gangs are all important and the big topic often is how old fashioned one's parents are. They often act as if they could care less about parents or home, but they need to know parents are ther to talk to, but not there as watch dogs for supervision only. Parents continue to play a key role in their growth during these years.

An interesting study conducted at Cornell University investigated the different forms of family authority structure and ways of bringing up children, "handling" pre- adolescents and the consequences these differences made in the child's or teen's behavior.

Egalitarian children, families where both parents had equal power and say so, were reported as more sensitive to feelings of others, better able to express their own feelings freely, more spontaneous, outgoing, cheerful and better adjusted. Also, they were seen as more irresponsible, childish, mischievous, flighty, anxious and more resistant to authority and they were consistently low in school achievements.

The researchers interprted this as the kind of peer-oriented "good guy", adjusted as all get out, spontaneous, maybe creative, but not doing very much.

In contrast, the children from the father- dominant family structures were rated high on leadership, daring, persistance and relatively high on responsibility and school achievement. But they were also seen as more indifferent, selfish and hostile and less sensitive to others' feelings and not so well accepted by peers.

Mother- dominant family authority patterns tended to reveal children as highly responsible, submissive, uninterested in the opposite sex, cooperative, controlled, deliberate, adult- oriented, well- behaved, shy, calm, friendly, with high aspiration and high achievement in school; "good kids in the worst sense of the word", not problem kids, but so adult- oriented that it seems they're no longer children.

So, what does this all mean, if anything? We can't push this research finding as the one and only answer, but those conducting the study, interpreted as implying that over- permissiveness can be just as disastrous as all out authoritarianism. In highly permissive homes, children kept showing up as low on responsibility and achievement, and high on anxiety and emotional immaturity. But this doesn't mean we should return to the days of strict, authoritarian parent, but that we adapt a middle- of- the- road approach, combining ample, but not smothering, levels of love and understanding with not crippling levels of discipline and control.

The goal is to be tough and firm and human and loving all at the same time. This is no snap job, but well worth the effort.

Dunklin County plans Sew With Cotton show

KENNETT— The 13th annual district Sew With Cotton program will be held at Kennett High School Saturday, beginning at 8:45 a.m. Mrs. Norman Bartmess, co- ordinator of the program, will be presiding over the day's activities.

Strokes disable thousands

ST. LOUIS — Strokes disable an estimated 400,000 persons in the United States each year, reports the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Missouri.

A stroke occurs when the blood supply to a part of the brain tissue is cut off by a blood clot or a narrowing or rupture of a blood vessel. This may result in a weakened or paralyzed side, poor balance, loss of vision, or loss of proper speech. For some individuals, the damage may be beyond repair; for others, partial or total independence can be restored through prompt rehabilitation.

According to the society, stroke is a frightening and frustrating experience for the victim as well as his family.

To help clear up many commonly held misconceptions about one of man's oldest illnesses, the National Easter Seal Society has published a new leaflet, "Understanding Stroke", developed under the guidance of the society's professional advisors and counselors. It contains basic facts about the medical aspects of stroke, its effects on daily living functions and offers suggestions for understanding and helping patients.

Single copies of "Understanding Stroke", the first in a series of health education publications being produced by the society, are available free on request from the Easter Seal Society of Missouri, 1530 Big Bend Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. 63117.

The society also states that in line with its basic policy of direct assistance to individuals eligible for its services, it will provide wheelchairs, hospital beds and lifts that are medically prescribed for stroke patients.

300 GAMES REJECTED

GREENDALE, Wis. (AP) — Four 300 games were rejected during an American Bowling Congress march meeting of the ABC awards review committee. Two of the games were rolled by pro Darold Meisel in Madison. Wis. The centers of the lanes on which Meisel rolled his perfect games were found to have an improper concentration of dressing.

Bicentennial tour deadline draws near

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The reservation deadline is approaching for individuals wishing to join one or both of the tours which Southeast Missouri State University has scheduled this summer as part of the university's observance of the Bicentennial of the American Revolution.

Each of the tours may be counted for three hours of either graduate or undergraduate credit at Southeast Missouri State. Each is of about two week's duration, and the cost of each includes round- trip transportation on an air-conditioned bus, first- class motel accommodations in twin rooms, admission prices for all sites visited, university fees and travel insurance.

Meals, for the most part, will cost extra.

Interested individuals must put down a $100 deposit prior to May 1, and the balance of the tour price is due by May 15.

Both tours are open to students currently enrolled at Southeast Missouri State, alumni, or persons not presently connected with the university.

The first tour, "The Colonial South and the Revolutionary War," will be June 18- July 1. Participants will visit Charleston, S. C., Winston- Salem, N. C., and Williamsburg, Richmond and Charlottesville, Va., among other cities.

They will also stop at various Revolutionary War battlegrounds and other spots of historical interest along the way. Cost of the 3,500- mile Colonial South Tour is $305.

Dates of the second tour, "The Colonial North and the Revolutionary War," are July 22- Aug. 5. Cost of the 4,000 - mile trip will be $400. Scheduled are all- day tours of both Philadelphia and Boston as well as visits to, among other places, the home of William Penn, the home of Nathan Hale, the Morristown, N. J., National Historical Park and Plymouth Plantation.

Interested individuals may write or call Dr. Arthur Mattingly of the university history department, or the dean of instruction's office at Southeast Missouri State for additional information and a detailed itinerary.

Annual music festival set for Friday and Saturday

COLUMBIA — A total of 314 high schools, represented by approximately 5,000 students, will take part in the 1973 Missouri State High School Activities Association Music Festival Friday and Saturday at the University of Missouri.

The annual event will involve schools in three enrollment classifications in which high schools with enrollments of 625 and above in grades 9-12 will take part in Class L; those with enrollments of 200 to 624 will be in Class M; and those under 200 in Class S. Class M schools will compete on Friday and Class S and L schools on Saturday. Students will enter solo and small ensemble events in both vocal and instrumental areas.

The state festival has an evaluative purpose. Students perform before top music critics who provide ratings and criticisms of their musical abilities. Participants in the event have received one ratings at their respective district festivals, which qualifies them for the state event.

Calendar of Events

TUESDAY

Chapter JU of PEO will meet at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Bob Mitchell, 10 Bel Air Drive.

THURSDAY

American Legion Post 114 will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the legion hall.

FRIDAY

The Rebekah Lodge will have a birthday supper at 6:30 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Hall for all members.

MONDAY

Coalesce Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Laverne Wright, 308 Powers.

Industrial awards to be presented

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Students, teachers and parents will have an opportunity Friday and Saturday to see outstanding examples of the work done by area industrial education students in grades 7-12 at the 24th annual Southeast Missouri District Industrial Education Awards Program.

Purpose of the program, which will be in Houck Field House at Southeast Missouri State University, is to promote and recognize creativity and craftsmanship in industrial education.

Projects to be entered in the competition will be registered and set up from 1 to 6 p.m. Friday and will be judged that evening. The public may view the displays from 8 to 10:30 a.m. Saturday and the awards presentations will begin at 10:30 a.m.

Area educators and businessmen will judge the projects and rate each as superior, about average, or average. Their decisions will be based on the general facotrs of design, creativity, quality, construction and craftsmanship.

One project from those receiving superior ratings will be named the best overall and the student who constructed it will receive the grand prize trophy.

Nineteen other projects from those rated superior will also be chosen for smaller trophies, and the 20 students will have the opportunity to take their projects to the statewide Missouri Industrial Education Awards Program in Columbia on May 5.

Other individual recognition will include three merchandise prizes and award certificates for each student receiving a superior, above average, or average from the judges.

Besides the individual awards, the school which has the greatest number of projects entered in the district program will receive a certificate, and the school whose projects are judged as demonstrating the best overall quality will receive a trophy from the Industrial and Technical Education Club at Southeast Missouri State.

Major divisions in this year's how are drawing, electricity, general shop, graphic arts, industrial crafts, metalwork, woodwork and open. These are further divided into 26 classifications. Entries in each classification will be judged in groups according to the grade level of the students.

All projects must have been constructed during the current academic year in the classroom under the supervision of an instructor.

Schools are not permitted to enter more than four projects per classification except that those schools which have local elimination projects approved in advance may enter all projects which receive blue ribbons.

Dr. James Sage, assistant professor of industrial and technical education at Southeast Missouri State, is chairman of the district program, and all members of the industrial and technical education faculty serve on the awards committee.

In addition, a district advisory committee has been formed this year. The co-chairmen are Dr. Donald J. Amelon and Ralph Pittman of the Southeast Missouri State faculty.

Other members are James Bowers, president of the Industrial and Technical Education Club; Ralph Hemann of Kennett, Dennis Meyer of Poplar Bluff, Thomas Morrey of Cape Girardeau, Ken Peters of Jackson, Ken Schlemeier of Desloge and Roger Talbot of Bourbon.

Dr. Sage said interest in the program seems to be increasing. The number of schools which participated last spring was up somewhat, and there was an overall increase of about 10 per cent in the number of projects entered, he said.

Response so far this spring has been very good, he added, and more growth is indicated.

New films at New Madrid library

Pilgrim Adventure— 54 minutes— color— McGraw. Recreates the gripping, often heartbreaking experiences of the small band of 17the Century Separatists whose indomitable courage and determination against tremendous odds form a brilliant chapter in the history of western man. Documentary follows the path of the Pilgrims from Babworth, England, where their journey began, to Holland and finally to America.

Poland: Land Under Communism— 22 minutes— color— EBF. This is a well developed and interesting film on one of the trouble spots of the world, showing in graphic detail the lives of a people caught in the power of a Communistic leader. It presents some sobering scenes of conditions in Poland today and the lack of freedom of the Polish people to do anything but accept their role in destiny.

Renoir— 23 minutes— color— Contemporary. The phases of life and artistic development that Pierre Auguste Renoir, the French impressionist painter, passed through are skillfully described by selections from his pictures. In the 50 outstanding works painted from the age of 20 until his death, the people he knew, the world he loved, the country side, his artistic strivings and his own warm personality are revealed.

Where He Walked— 14 minutes— color— Classroom Film. Many picturesque scenes typical of the Holy Land- background of Jesus life are shown as the narrator reads excerpts, mostly from the New Testament.

Speech and Protest— 22 minutes— color— Churchill. Film deals with specific amendment in the Bill of Rights. Opens with query about the limits to freedom of speech and assembly. Concerned citizens voice opposing opinions. First, amendments are introduced and three enacted sequences help the viewer to arrive at rational conclusions with respect to issues.

Stone Soup— 11 minutes— color— Weston Woods. Marcia Brown's version of an old folk tale about three tired, hungry soldiers who tricked the stingy French peasants into providing them with a banquet.

Dogs blank Devils, 9-0

SHS Bulldog netmen ran their spring record to 6-1 Friday as they whitewashed the Chaffee Red Devil netters nine matches to none on the Sikeston courts.

Coach John Heacox spelled the top three singles players for the match and allowed other squad members to see varsity action. He also rested two of SHS' top three doubles teams for the mat ch.

Bill Colwick started the sweep for the Bulldogs with a two set victory over Goin of Chaffee by scores of 6-3, 6-2. Matt Matthews downed Howard in 6-3, 6-0 sets while freshman Jeff Robey was turning back Mantel in identical set scores of 6-2, 6-2. Gary Whitworth and Thom Lemmons continued the winning smash by dropping their opponents, Free and Wolfe, by sets of 6-0, 6-0 and 5-7, 6-1, 6-4 respectively. Tom Walls gained the final Sikeston triumph in singles by rapping Sadler 5-7, 7-5, 6-2.

David Hahs and Brad Buchanan teamed in doubles competition to down Goin and Howard 6-3, 6-0 while Robey and Craig Vogel blanked Mantel and Free in 6-0, 6-0 sets. In the final match of the day, Chuck Medelberg and Prince McDougal defeated Wolfe and Sadler of CHS in sudden death pro- eight play, 8-7.

The Sikeston racketmen have three rained out matches rescheduled for this week as they traveled to Caruthersville this afternoon to meet the Tigers, host Cape Central Wednesday on the Sikeston courts, and visit Poplar Bluff Thursday to take on a tough PBHS net squad.

RESULTS:
Bill Colwick beat Goin 6-3,6-2
Matt Matthews beat Howard 6-3, 6-0
Jeff Robey beat Mantel 6-2, 6-2
Gary Whitworth beat Free 6-0, 6-0

Chuck Medelberg- Prince McDougal beat Wolfe- Sadler 8-7

SHS Golfers lose

Brad Locke fired a two - under - par 70 Monday afternoon to lead the Poplar Bluff golfers to a dual victory in simultaneous matches over the duffers from Sikeston and Cape Central. The Mules had a winning foursome team score of 295 for the 18 holes as Cape and Sikeston followed with respective scores of 309 and 338.

Locke and teammate David McMurray each had first round totals of 34 for the par 36 nine holes. McMurray came back with a 38 with second round and Locke a 36 to leave McMurray at par 72 and his mule counterpart two under par. Pete Godwin also had a 76 and Lynn Miller a 77 for PBHS.

Jeff Hutton fired a 38 the second round for Cape to go with his even par first round and an 18 hole total of 74. Rounding out the foursome were Ron Fisher and 77 and Mike Logel and Mark Edward with 79 each.

For Sikeston, Dennis Meyer had a blazing first round of 35, but fell to a 39 on the second nine holes to take low shooting honors for the Bulldogs with a 74. Mark Shaw followed with a good second round of 40 and an 18 hole tally of 85 while Bill Wake was a single stroke back with an 86. Wake also chipped out a fine first round score of 39. Galen Kruger rounded out the SHS foursome with a score of 90.

The Mules will put their 8-0 record on the line Wednesday afternoon as they visit the Sikeston country club to take on a winless, but optimistic group of Bulldogs coached by Robert Buchanan. Sikeston was slated to play its seventh match this afternoon with Coach Jim Hall's Bearcats at Dexter, but inclimate weather may pre-empt the meet.

Games re-set

Sikeston Bulldog baseball team was slated to host the undefeated Charleston Blue Jay baseballers Tuesday afternoon at V.F.W. stadium in a four o'clock contest, but once again rain was in the daily forecast, which would have made play very difficult on the already soggy turf.

Coach N. P. McDaniel's crew are also scheduled to visit Cape Girardeau tomorrow to take on the Central Tigers at Capaha field. Sikeston goes into district competition next week, and their opponents will be announced later in the week.

Matthews among stars

KIRKSVILLE, Mo.--- Coach Sam Nugent's Northeast Missouri State University Bulldogs have lost 14 of 17 baseball games this season and have a team batting average of only .180 but one bright spot on the team is freshman Greg Matthews, former athlete from Dexter, who is the second leading, hitter on the team with a .285 average. Matthews is listed as an infielder and outfielder for coach Nugent.

Cards near NL record

ST. LOUIS (AP)— "It's hard to believe. The players feel bad about it, but they're going to keep coming out."

St. Louis Cardinals Manager Red Schoendienst, rather than calling for an overhaul, said Monday his team needs a tune up to get off the ground in the National League.

"Most of all it's hitting," said Schoendienst, whose Cardinals have rivaled the worst of the old New York Mets with their 1- 12 beginning.

"I can't remember any team having gotten off any more poorly than ours," Schoendienst added, "but I'm not concerned about records for futility. We just want to start winning."

The Cardinals, who Sunday dropped both ends of a double- header to the Philadelphia Phillies, have a record close to the worst in the history of baseball.

While a fledgling entry, the Mets in 1962 posted the same record but won their next game.

To find anything worse, one must go to the American League record book. Both the 1904 Washington Senators and the 120 Detroit Tigers had 1- 13 beginnings.

"We didn't think we were going to set the league on fire because our hitjting fell off at the end of spring training," Schoendienst said, "but this is something I couldn't have imagined."

Schoendienst, who has parlayed patience into a nine-season term as Cardinals manager, finally shook up his line- up Sunday.

He inserted Tim McCarver at catcher, moved Ted Simmons to first base and returned Joe Torre to third base in the second game of the twin bill.

But the Cardinals, whose team batting mark is .227, garnered only five hits off Philadelphia rooke Dick Ruthven. It was left to closing pitcher Bob Gibson to score the run in a 2- 1 defeat.

"We've had some pretty good pitching at times," Schoendienst noted, "We've just got to start hitting the ball more. We're not tight. We're just not scoring enough runs."

A workout was scheduled Monday for the Cardinals, whose only win to date was 6- 3 over the Chicago Cubs April 13 behing right- hander Rick Wise. Wise, 1- 1, is the scheduled starter Tuesday night in the opener of a two-game series against the Los Angeles Dodgers at Busch Stadium.

"One of these days we're going to break out of it," Schoendienst promised. "We're just thinking about winning. We're not giving up yet."

SHS relay teams possible state qualifiers

Missouri State High School Athletic Association announced the sites for the district and state outdoor track meets which will be held across the state in classes S, M, and L between May 5 and May 20. Eight class 'L' sites across Missouri have been designated for district competition with state track events slated for 10 a.mm. at Columbia in the University of Missouri's Memorial Stadium on May 20.

SHS cindermen willl be competing Saturday, May 12 with 11 other squads to qualify four participants in each event. The district meet will be held at House Springs Northwest High School of St. Louis and the participating schools will be Fox of Arnold, Cape Girardeau Central, Farmington, Northwest of House Springs, Poplar Bluff, Sikeston, Affton, Kirkwood, Lindberg, Mellville, Vianney, and Webster Groves.

Several Bulldogs are potential state qualifiers for Coaches Jim Graham and Al Holmes. They include Phil Cannon in the 880-yard run, Clifton Ham in the mile run, Jerry Wilder in the triple jump, and Curtis Bean in the 100- yeard dash and the long jump.

The 880-, mile, and two mile relay teams are also state bound hopefuls. Wilder, Kelly Hughes, Terry Martin, and Larry Blue make up the 880 - yard relay squad; Bean, Cannon, Ham, and Wilder the mile relay foursome; and Ham, Cannon, Lee Haines, and Jim Matthews the two mile relayers.

Sikeston will be "tuning up" for district competition this week with the Cape relays meet at six p.m. Thursday and the rescheduled East Prairie invitational meet at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Bartow heads cage clinic

ST. LOUIS, Mo.— Gene Bartow will head the 7UP Basketball Coaches Clinic which will be conducted in St. Louis Friday and Saturday, April 27 and 28, at the Mariott Motor Hotel. Other Clinic staff members are Don DeVoe, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and University; Bob Knight, University of Indiana; Jack Kraft, University of Rhode Island; Ted Owens, University of Kansas, and Joe Heath, Jefferson High School, Lafayette, Indana.

Coach Bartow led the Memphis State Tigers to the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) tournament finals in March. Named the 1973 Coach of the Year by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, Bartow's college coaching record is 202- 113. He was head coach of the Puerto Rican national team, which won the silver medal in the 1971 Pan- American Games in Cali, Colombia, and which placed fifth in last summer's Olympics at Munich.

DeVoe, whose techmen captured the 1973 National Invitational Tournament (NIT) title in March, completes his second season at Virginia with a 38- 15 record. He was a member of this year's Mid-East selection committee.

Jack Waterbury, director of advertising- public relations for the Seven- UP Bottling Company of St. Louis, will welcome coaches to the opening Clinic session at 1:00 P.M, Friday at the Marriott.

1903—a time of no credit, a 12-hour workday, and no Payroll Savings Plan.

It's sort of like your grandfather telling you he used to walk 15 miles through the snow to get to school.

But it's true: today's working men and women have more advantages than their grandparents.

One of them is the Payroll Savings Plan—the easy, safe, automatic way to build a nest egg for the future.

When you sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan, an amount you specify is automatically set aside from your paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

That way, even if you spend all your take-home pay, you're still building a steady savings.

Grandpa would approve.

Warriors come back

OAKLAND (AP) — The Golden State Warriors had nowhere to hide and a lot of pride to regain.

"We couldn't end it in humiliation," said Cazzie Russell, the man most responsible for the Warriors' being alive today in their National Basketball Association playoff series with Los Angeles.

Russell, playing only 28 minutes, scored 33 points Monday night as the Warriors registered a 117-109 victory over the Lakers, the team that beat them 126-70 two nights earlier to take a 3-0 lead in the best-of7 Western Conference championship series.

The upset at the Oakland Coliseum Arena came before many of the same home fans who walked out on the Warriors during Saturday night's game.

"We didn't want to be embarrassed again," said center Nate Thurmond, who scored 23 points and outrebounded the Lakers' Wilt Chamberlain, 1816.

The Lakers-Warriors clash was the only pro basketball action Monday night. Their series could end Wednesday night on the home court of the defending champion Lakers.

The New York Knicks hold a 3-1 edge over Boston in the Eastern finals, with the fifth game scheduled Wednesday night in Boston.

In the American Basketball Association, Kentucky and Carolina are tied 3-3 going into tonight's game in Greensboro, N.C. The winner will face Western champion, Indiana, for the league champions.

No NBA team ever has been down 3-0 and rebounded to win a playoff series.

"It sounds silly, but we're still in it," said Russell. "We may make history."

Russell replaced starting forward Rick Barry late in the first quarter and made six straight jump shots. The Warriors led 31-21 at the end of the quarter and were ahead 47-30 midway in the second period when Russell completed his hot streak.

But Jerry West made sure the Lakers were not on their way to embarrassment. He scored 17 points over the next eight minutes and Los Angeles led 64-58 early in the third period.

West totaled 32 points in the game, and his six assists gave him a career total of 940 in playoff games, breaking the record of 937 held by Boston's Bob Cousy.

Rose blossoms early

CINCINNATI (AP) — "If I was paid for my production in the first two months...I'd be carrying a lunch pail," is how Pete Rose of the Cincinnati Reds has often described his hitting at the start of each baseball season.

How times have have changed.

Rose, who last year became the only active major leaguer to hit .300 or better for eight consecutive seasons, is off to one of the hottest starts of his 11-year career.

He has already has collected 23 hits and is swinging his bat at a lusty .343 clip.

"When you have a history of bad starts like I do, this is most welcome," said the veteran outfielder, who turned 32 last week.

The quick start could mean Rose's return to the 200-hit plateau for the first time since 1970.

He's shooting for his third National League batting title, having won back-to-back titles in 1968 and 1969.

He had 29 hits for all of April 1968 and 26 in 1969. He still has five games left this month.

"This is really icing on the cake, because I'm traditionally a hot weather hitter," said Rose, who had only 16 hits in April 1972 but batted .323 in the last month of the season to finish with a .307 average.

"But it doesn't mean I can coast those last couple months. To hit .300 you need what we call hitter's luck. A hit a week is all the difference in the world over a season." Rose had two hits in nine of the Reds' first 15 games and mounted an eight-game hitting streak.

He's expected to claim his 2,000th career hit in June if he maintains his present pace. He says 3,000 is his lifetime goal.

Yanks cure ills

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Yankees used a Hart transplant and a would be doctor to cure some of their ills Monday night.

Designated hitter Jim Ray Hart continued his sensational hitting by driving in two runs with a single and double and rookie George "Doc" Medich, with relief help from old preacher Lindy McDaniel, posted his first major league victory as the Yankees ended a two-year skein of seven consecutive losses to Milwaukee by defeating the Brewers 5-2.

In the only other American League game, the California Angels whipped the Oakland A's 4-0 while the Houston Astros blanked the San Diego Padres 2-0 in the only National League action.

Since the Yankees acquired Hart from the San Francisco Giants last week, the veteran 31-year-old slugger has rapped out eight hits in 13 at-bats— that's a .615 average—with five runs batted in. He singled home one of two fourth-inning runs off loser Bill Parsons and doubled home another as the Yanks added three in the fifth.

While Medich, a third-year medical student at the University of Pittsburgh, is studying toward a career in orthopedics, Hart is taking a cram course in AL pitchers.

"In cold weather like this I get stiff not playing in the field," he said, "but I'm able to concentrate more on hitting. Being new to the league, it's helped me to be able to sit in the dugout and study the pitchers to learn something about them. It's helped my concentration on hitting, and maybe this (the designated hitter) rule can help me last three or four more years. I don't have to worry about fielding ground balls. I would like to play, naturally, but it would be kind of tough here with a hell of a player like (Graig) Nettles at third."

Medich, a tall 24-year-old right-hander, held the Brewers to one hit and struck out six until the sixth inning, when Pedro Garcia and Bob Coluccio tagged him for solo homers. The 37-year-old McDaniel a lay preacher during the off-season, took over with two on and one out and blanked the Brewers the rest of the way, fanning six more.

Still on a medical kick, the Astros ran their winning streak to five in a row, all since Manager Leo Durocher was confined to a Houston hospital with an inflammation of the colon. Dave Roberts and Jim York scattered eight hits and Doug Rader hit a two-run homer in the second inning. Loser Bill Greif had not allowed a run in 15 innings this season when he walked Jim Wynn with one out in the second and Rader, batting only .177, hammered his home run about halfway up the mezzazine section in left field.

The game was spiced by an apparent brushback duel between Roberts and Greif in the fifth inning. Members of both teams poured onto the field but no punches were thrown.

Rudy May pitched a five-hitter and Frank Robinson delivered a two-run single to lead the Angels over the floundering world champion A's.

The Angels scored three times in the third inning in sending winless John "Blue Moon" Odom to his fourth defeat.

House to hold special session

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — After a week long vacation, the Missouri Senate reconvened today to begin debate on bills to expand the public defender system and widen regulation of lobbyists.

Meanwhile, the House, which goes back to work this afternoon, has scheduled a special session tonight to consider tentative approval of two bills dealing with abortions.

Under the Senate public defender proposal, the program would be expanded so defenders could aid persons accused of misdemeanors as well as felonies.

The other Senate measure would require persons to register as a lobbyist if they appear before a legislative committee more than eight times in one session.

In addition, all persons testifying before a committee would have to register with the House clerk or Senate secretary.

Tonight the House will take up bills to revise Missouri's abortion laws, following the U.S. Supreme Court's landmark decision striking down abortion laws that regulate abortions within the first three months of pregnancy.

The high court's ruling said state laws limiting abortions only to those cases where the mother's life was in danger were unconstitutional.

Missouri is among 30 states with such statutes.

The bill before the House is a committee substitute for two more stringent bills introduced soon after the Supreme Court ruling.

It places no restrictions or regulations on abortions in the first three months.

For the remainder of a woman's pregnancy, the bill provides a woman must given her written consent and all possible steps must be taken to preserve the life of the fetus.

If the child lives it becomes a ward of the state. It also provides only licensed doctors can perform abortions.

The other measure the House will consider would exempt doctors, nurses and hospitals from performing abortions if it conflicts with their religious or moral convictions.

In the special night session, the House will also consider a bill to allow the state to give money to local public housing authorities to assist persons on fixed incomes.

Bond proposes new plan for additional aid to elderly

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A program for the state to provide special services to the elderly, disabled and blind, and to make sure their benefit checks are not cut when the federal government begins a new payment plan next Jan. 1, was sent to the Missouri legislature Monday by Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

The governor said when the federal district payments begin, the state will have to make up the difference from about 85,000 recipients whose checks will be decreased.

Because the new fiscal year begins July 1, Bond urged the legislature to take action before the present session ends in June. He said it would cost the state about $25 million for the supplemental aid and new service program for the last half of the 1973-74 fiscal year. The annual cost for the next full year was estimated at about $50 million.

Bond said of the proposed new services:

"This program would have substantial impact on those whose need is greatest, specifically those requiring domiciliary and practical nursing care."

Included in a four-level nursing home care program to provide skilled care, intermediate care, practical nursing care for those not acutely ill and domiciliary care facilities to provide food, shelter and personal services to those who need it.

Also proposed is an adult services program for elderly persons living alone and not able to adequately care for themselves. This includes day care facilities to enable a spouse or other relative to be employed, foster care services to place adults in private homes, chore services for shopping and home maintenance and a number of other home management services.

Boy shot in accident

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP)-The state's turkey hunting season was only a few hours old today when Steve Juenger, 19, of St. Louis County, was shot and seriously injured while hunting in woods north of here, police said.

Juenger was struck in the upper portion of his body by a shotgun blast fired by the boy's uncle, Michael Juenger, 58, of Overland, police said.

The youth was taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff and was listed in serious condition with injuries to both eyes. He was transferred to Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

Police said the youth was wearing camoufalged clothing and hiding in some weeds when the accident occurred.

Rationing unlikely

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The acting director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness said Monday indications are gasoline supplies will be tight this summer but he called the possibility of rationing "highly unlikely."

Darrel M. Trent said in an interview here fuel inventories are below normal for this time of year in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, but increased production is expected in the three states.

The unusually cold winter, with production of heating fuel taking precedence over automotive fuel, probably would result in spot shortages throughout the nation this summer, he said.

"I think the numbers indicate that this summer we will have a tight gasoline situation," Trent said. He noted that the level of gasoline production will remain satisfactory this summer, but problems could occur in distribution because inventories are not always where the demand is.

He said the OEP has drafted plans for gasoline rationing if necessary but "we view gasoline rationing as highly unlikely."

Trent also discounted the suggestion that gasoline prices will soar during the summer. He said the Cost of Living Council is keeping a close watch on prices and has guidelines for the industry to follow.

Watkins arrested

BENTON — The Scott County sheriff's department has announced the arrest of Larry William Watkins of Sikeston Route Two for driving while intoxicated and improper registration.

5 arrested

Police today announced five arrests, four for traffic violations and one on a bad check charge.

McCrate break-in

PORTAGEVILLE — McCrate Equipment Co., 421 E. Main St., was burglarized Monday night. Four or five dollars in change was reported missing.

Entry was gained by breaking a window.

Disruption at Hamilton's cafe

HAYWOOD CITY— A fight at Hamilton's Cafe between 7 and 8 p.m. Monday resulted in injuries to two women, according to the Scott County sheriff's department.

Doris Turner, 24, was treated at Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston for a razor blade cut across her face from ear to ear. She reportedly received 50 stitches to close the wound. Her sister, Rose, 16, was also cut.

The sheriff's office is still investigating the incident.

4 injuries in area accidents

Two area traffic accidents Monday resulted in four injuries, the highway patrol said today.

Marvin Clowers, 47, of Wardell received scalp cuts at 10:10 a.m. when he failed to stop his flatbed truck at a stop sign at the intersection of Highways 114 and 153 and pulled into the path of a car driven by William Hylton, 54, of Cape Girardeau.

Hylton suffered cuts and bruises and several broken ribs. A passenger in Clowers' truck, William Duncan, 44, of Wardell received mouth bruises. They were taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.

Timothy Patrick Allred, 23, of East Prairie sustained bruises at 9 a.m. when his car, traveling at a high rate of speed, ran into a guard rail on Highway 80 one mile east of East Prairie. He was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Notice to Consumers with Respect to Claims in Connection with Quinine, Quinidine and Other Cinchona Products

An individual plaintiff has commenced an action and the Executrix of his estate has been designated as representative of a class consisting of the following:

All users of quinine, quinidine, other cinchona products, or any other related product or substance, for medicinal purposes in the United States or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

This action seeks damages resulting from alleged violations by the defendants of certain provisions of the antitrust laws. It is alleged in substance that during the period 1958-1966 the defendants conspired to restrain trade and commerce in the manufacture and sale of quinine, quinidine and other cinchona products. It is further alleged that as a result of this conspiracy purchasers of such products have been compelled to pay higher prices than they otherwise would have paid.

The defendants have denied the allegations and have denied liability.

On April 2, 1973, certain of the defendants,* while denying liability, entered into a Stipulation of Settlement with the plaintiff class representative, a copy of which is available for inspection at the Office of the Clerk of the Court, referred to below. Under that Stipulation of Settlement $725,000 plus the income earned thereon, less expenses of the settlement and such amount as the Court might allow in payment to plaintiff's attorneys for their fees and expenses, would be paid to members of the class hereinabove described in settlement of their claims against the settling defendants. The defendants have the right to withdraw from the proposed settlement on certain terms and conditions as set forth in the Stipulation of Settlement. In the event the defendants exercise this option to withdraw, plaintiff's attorneys will have the right to petition the Court for an award from the settlement fund of their fees and expenses to that date.

The class hereinabove described has been established by this Court for the purpose of administering the Stipulation of Settlement.

Now, therefore, take notice:

(1) You will be excluded from the class by this Court if you request such exclusion in writing sent to John J. Harding, Clerk of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, P. O. Box 95, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19105, postmarked not later than May 24, 1973;

(2) If you do not request exclusion from the class by May 24, 1973, you will be included in such class and any judgment whether favorable or not, including any judgment approving any settlement, will be binding upon you;

(3) If you do not request exclusion from the class but prefer in connection with your individual claim to be represented by your own counsel rather than by counsel to the class representative, you may enter an appearance through your counsel but not later than May 24, 1973;

(4) If you do not request exclusion from the class, you must mail to John J. Harding, Clerk of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, P. O. Box 95, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19105, postmarked not later than June 8, 1973, a statement indicating that you intend to file a claim and setting forth your name and full address. If you do not mail such a statement, postmarked not later than June 8, 1973, that will constitute an authorization that money paid in settlement but not allocated to individual claims may be utilized for the public benefit in such manner as the Court may direct;

(5) A hearing will be held before the Court, beginning on June 20, 1973, at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon in Room 4 of the United States Court House, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The purpose of the hearing is to determine whether the proposed settlement should be approved by the Court under Rule 23(e) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. If the settlement is approved and becomes effective in accordance with the terms of the Stipulation of Settlement, this action will be dismissed on the merits as against the settling defendants with prejudice;

(6) A hearing shall be held before the Court in Courtroom No. 4 in the United States Court House, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on June 20, 1973, at 4:00 p.m. for the purpose of determining whether the Stipulation of Settlement, dated April 2, 1973, between plaintiffs and certain of the defendants is fair, reasonable and adequate and should be approved;

(7) Any member of the class who objects to approval of the settlement, or the judgment to be entered thereon, may appear at the hearing and show cause, if any he has, why it should not be approved and why judgment should not be entered thereon. However, any objection must initially be made in writing and filed with the Clerk of the Court on or before 5:00 p.m. on June 4, 1973, showing thereon service of a copy on counsel for plaintiffs, Aaron M. Fine, Esquire, 1214 IVB Building, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19103 and on counsel acting for settling defendants, Bernard J. Smolens, Esquire, 1719 Packard Building, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19102;

(8) No member of the class shall be entitled in any way to contest the approval of the terms and conditions of the Stipulation of Settlement, or, if approved, the judgment to be entered thereon, unless he has served and filed written objections in accordance with paragraph 7 above, and any member of the class who fails to object in the manner prescribed shall be deemed to have waived, and shall be foreclosed forever from raising any objections except by leave of court for good cause shown; and

(9) If the proposed settlement of this action is approved, it is contemplated that thereafter each class member who has filed a timely notice of intention to file a claim will be given an opportunity to file a claim and will thereafter be given an opportunity to be heard as to the allowance or disallowance of its claim and as to the portion of the settlement fund, if any, to be allocated to its claim.

Dated: April 24, 1973

John J. Harding,

Clerk of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, P. O. Box 95, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19105.

THE CITY OF SIKESTON
MISSOURI
Resolution

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of one and one- half inch hotmix asphaltic pavement on six inch soil cement base with concrete curb and gutter on and along East Gladys Street from Selma to dead end in the City of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Sikeston, State of Missouri, as follows: Section 1: That the Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said Street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the City of Sikeston. Section 2: That the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. Section 3: That the estimated cost of the improvement is $5.85 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. Section 4: That payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the State of Missouri and the ordinances of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the City Council the General Revenue fund of the City of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. Section 5: That any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the State of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the Industrial Commission of Missouri. Section 6: That the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this Resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the City of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 3rd day of April, 1973. Approved: FRANK FERRELL, Mayor; Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk.

2 teachers retiring

DEXTER — Retiring this year from the Dexter school system are Mrs. Iris Sheehan and Mrs. Lovie Stoll. Both teach at the junior high school.

Mrs. Sheehan has been at Dexter Junior High for six years, four as a counselor and the last two as a mathematics teacher.

She was born in Gideon. She received a Life State Teaching Certificate in 1926 after two years study at Southeast Missouri State Teacher's College in Cape Girardeau. Later she earned a bachelor's degree from SeMo State and in 1964, she received a master's degree from University of Missouri.

Her husband, Mart Sheehan, was in construction but died last November after a lengthy illness. Her son, Keith Sheehan, earned a civil engineering degree at Rolla and now lives in Stamford, Conn., where he works for a construction firm.

Prior to coming to Dexter, Mrs. Sheehan taught at Gideon for one year, 31 years at Risco and was a counselor for six years at Clarkton. She has taught all age levels from elementary through high school, teaching math and social studies.

When not working she likes to sew and cook.

Mrs. Stoll likes sewing, too, especially hand work and piece quilts. She was born in Leora and earned her elementary degree at SeMo State about 1930. In the early 1950s she earned a bachelor's degree in education with a concentration in English, which she teaches at Dexter. She also has several credits towards a master's degree.

Mrs. Stoll taught all subjects for seventh and eighth grade classes in the Gray Ridge district, now part of Richland, before coming to the Dexter district.

She has taught 30 years here, second graders for three years, sixth graders two years and for the remainder has taught English to seventh and eighth graders.

Mrs. Stoll lives in Cape Girardeau. During the school year, she stays weekdays in Dexter and drives to Cape for weekends. Her husband, Elmo Stoll, is partially retired but still raises some cattle. They live on a farm on West Cape Rock Drive.

7 treated

® Volkswagen of America, Inc.

With $125 * down, you'll be sitting pretty

Just a cash down payment of $125, and $71.48 a month for 36 months, * gets you a brand new Volkswagen without destroying your bank account.

(In case you haven't figured it out, that works out to a deferred payment price of $2573.28 which includes a finance charge at an ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE OF 10.20%.)

So after you buy a new VW, you still have plenty of money to sit pretty with.

Especially since a Volkswagen only requires about 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts.

Or the fact that you never have to buy antifreeze because of its air-cooled engine.

And it doesn't cost you a fortune for gas. About a gallon for every 25 miles  or so will keep it happy.

Now if you're already sitting pretty and you hate to bother with financing, we don't mind if you pay for it all at once.

Then the cash price would be $2334.

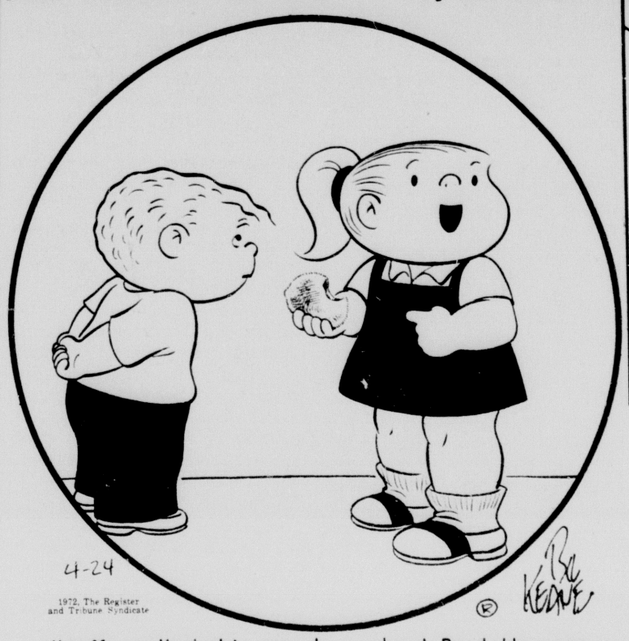

* Volkswagen Sedan III, with standard 4-speed transmission. Credit terms listed apply to qualified buyers only.

Based on DIN 70030.

The city of St. Louis was bracing for the highest crest there in history, 43.5 feet expected Thursday or Friday.

The previous record for St. Louis, where flood stage is 30 feet, was set in 1785 when the river rose to 42 feet.

Residential areas on the city's South Side were hit by flooding Monday as water from the Mississippi backed up into the drainage canal River Des Peres. Many residents were again forced out of their homes after returning only last week when earlier floodwaters receded.

The rising water of the Mississippi forced the Corps of Engineers to close the last two locks on the river in the St. Louis District, halting all commercial traffic. The locks at Alton and Granite City, Ill., were closed when the high water made the lock equipment inoperable. Locks at Clarksville and Winfield, Mo. were closed Sunday. Both the Illinois and Missouri rivers have also been closed to commercial barge traffic.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said bridges across the river were closed Monday at Alexandria, Canton, La Grange, Hannibal, Louisiana, St. Mary's and Cape Girardeau, Mo., and Chester, Ill. Only bridges at St. Louis and Cairo, Ill., remained open.

Officials called the flood situation at Cape Girardeau "critical." A Corps spokesman said volunteers are needed to sandbag levees from Kaskaskai Island, south of St. Louis, to Miller City, Ill. 25 miles south of Cape Girardeau. The river was expected to crest at 44 feet at Cape Girardeau later this week. It stood at 408 feet Monday.

Nearly 1,000 Missouri National Guardsmen have been called to duty to provide equipment, to help with sandbagging and to patrol small communities.

remodeling the balcony above the Circuit Courtroom for one of the offices has also been discussed.

Both sides and the court agreed that an elevator would benefit everyone by permitting all three floors of the courthouse to be used.

The court has received a letter from Bill Burlison, 10th District Congressman, requesting the court to present an estimate of how much flood damage has been done in the Scott County area.

The court said a report could not be given to Burlison until the water recedes.

Reagan Harris of the Scott County Highway Department, reported on the condition of bridges and roads.

According to Harris, at least eight bridges have been damaged and are practically impossible to use.

watch on the river and weather conditions.

He said the levees are adequate and can handle the flood stage without fear of breaking, at this time. "What we must watch for now is damage to the levees. It is not a matter of levee failure," Hume said.

The state highway department in Sikeston reported the following roads closed this morning, with a possibility of more to be closed later in the day:

In Scott County, Route E at Commerce is closed.

In Stoddard County, Route BB, Route K, Route M, Route Y at the Junction of Routes AB and Y, Route N, and Route Y south to AB and Route A, are also closed.

The Mississippi County, those closed are Highway 77 between Routes AA and A, Highway 102 from the levee south to YY, Route MM, Route VV Route YY and Route PP. Route B between C and Highway 80 has water over it but was not closed this morning.

In New Madrid County, those closed are Route P, Route AB, Route WW from Route P east to AB, Highway 162 east to the end at Portageville and Route U.

In Bollinger County those closed are Route U, Route T, Route H and Route Y between N and the railroad tracks.

In Butler County, those closed are Highway 158 between Qulin and Poplar Bluff, Highway 142 from Highway 158 to Route H, Route M, and Route N.

In Cape Girardeau County, Highway 25, Route N and Route U are closed.

In Pemiscot County those closed are Route P from Route A to the K junction, Route K from Route P and K junction west.

In Ripley County those closed are Route H, Route W, Highway 142 from Highway 67 in Butler County to Naylor.

In Wayne County, those closed are Route TT and Route FF, two and one half miles west of 67.

There are four inches of water over Interstate 55 north of Highway 80 in New Madrid County in the southbound lane, but the road is still passable.

New river crests are forecast as follows: Chester, 42 feet on Saturday; Cape Girardeau 45 feet Sunday; New Madrid, 42.5 feet Monday; Golconda, 40 feet Friday; Paducah, 43 feet Saturday; and Cairo, 54.5 feet Sunday.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain and soybean futures prices were generally weak in early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

The opening in the oats pits was delayed for 15 minutes because of back room problems in some commodity firms, generated by Monday's heavy volume of trade in oats.

On the opening, wheat was 1¼ cents a bushel lower to ½ higher, May 2.48; corn was ¾ to 2¼ lower, May 1.59½ and soybeans were 4¾ lower to 3¼ higher, May 6.57.

Flood approaching 200-year record

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Work continued around the clock to reinforce levees against the rampaging Mississippi River, which officials said could rise to its worst flooding in 200 years.

St. Louis was bracing for its highest crest in history, 43.5 feet expected Thursday or Friday. Flood stage is 30 feet and the previous high water mark was 42 feet in 1785.

The Coast Guard in St. Louis received presidential authorization Monday night to call up reservists for a second time this month to assist in flood control. An official said 75 men would be activated immediately and another 75 would be on duty by Wednesday afternoon.

At least eight persons have drowned because of the latest flooding. They included Barbara and Lori Stuart of South Roxana, Ill., whose bodies were recovered from Indian Creek near their home Monday night after the sisters were caught in the current while wading.

The Mississippi swamped levees to the north of St. Louis Monday, flooding thousands of acres of farmland. Although the levees held, the Corps of Engineers advised many residents to leave their homes.

"The levees are holding right now, but it doesn't look good," a Corps spokesman said. "They've been battered by wave-wash and high water for so long now that a lot of them could give way at any time."

A revised forecast issued late Monday by the National Weather Service indicated new crests will be so high that levees expected earlier to hold now will probably be breached, the spokesman said.

The service said the crest forecast had to be revised because water flowing from tributaries into the Mississippi was greater than anticipated.

The crest of the Missouri River, east of its mouth north of St. Louis, was reported falling Monday at Boonville, in central Missouri. It reached a stage of 30.5 feet.

High water from the Missouri and its tributaries plagued many towns and communities in central Missouri. The most serious flooding was reported between Glasgow and Jefferson City.

Water advanced to within a block of the state capital at Jefferson City Monday and streets in the lower end of the city's business district were covered with water.

More than 3,000 residents were advised to evacuate their homes near St. Charles at the mouth of the Missouri Monday night after authorities gave up the battle to save the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad levee north of the city. Officials said they expected the levee to be topped by the rising river some time during the night.

The Missouri is expected to crest at St. Charles at 37 feet Wednesday, 12 feet above flood stage and just short of the record 37.3 foot crest of 1951.

A levee north of Hannibal, Mo., protecting Taylor, Mo., broke Monday night and waters from the Mississippi and Fabius rivers swept over some 14,000 acres of farmland. Residents of Taylor had been evacuated from their homes Sunday and flooding was reported in the town about five miles inland from the Mississippi.

Several thousand acres of farmland were flooded Sunday north of Taylor, when a levee near Canton, Mo. gave way.

The Corps of Engineers had ordered a 50 - mile stretch along the river south of Quincy, Ill., evacuated Sunday and levees in the area were reportedly within three or four inches of being topped Monday night.

At Hannical, where the Mississippi was four blocks into the town, the river stood at nearly 28 feet Monday, the highest it has ever been, and was still rising. It is expected to crest at 29 feet, 13 feet above flood stage, today or Wednesday.

House in special session tonight

Abortion law may change

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri House will begin consideration of a bill to revise state laws on abortions in a special session tonight.

It will be the first attempt by either legislative branch to formulate new abortion statutes since the U.S. Supreme Court's landmark abortion ruling earlier this year.

The court struck down the abortion laws of Texas and Georgia, which permit abortions only when the life of the mother is in danger.

Missouri, along with 30 other states, has a similar law.

The high court refused to rule on a case involving Missouri's law, and ordered a Kansas City District Court to determine the status of the state's abortion law.

The House bill is a committee substitute for two bills introduced after the high court's ruling. The original bills were much stricter in their limits and regulations on abortion.

One measure, co-sponsored by Rep. William O'Toole, D-St. Louis, and Earl Schlef, D-Dellwood, prohibited the saline solution, suction and scraping methods of abortions, leaving only a method similar to a Caesarian operation.

During testimony on the bills in the committee, statistics were presented showing the only method allowed by the bill was many times more dangerous to the woman than those prohibited.

The substitute bill deletes any mention of prohibiting specific abortion techniques.

The substitute also deletes wording in both the original bills to define conception and pregnancy, which were included in the other bill, sponsored by O'Toole and Rep. Ray James, R-Kansas City.

The O'Toole-James version also prohibited the three methods forbidden in the O'Toole-Schlef measure.

The substitute requires the written consent of the woman, and if the woman is under 18 the written consent of her parents.

If the woman is married the consent of the husband is required.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled abortions within the first three months of pregnancy are a private matter between the woman and her doctor.

Thousands of acres flooded

Castor River levee breaks

The Castor River Sunday night topped the levee in one location and broke through a levee in another spot in Stoddard County to flood several thousand more acres of farmland.

At least three breaks in the Castor River occurred five miles east of Aquilla, near the railroad tracks on Route Y.

Water went over the top of one of the levees about two miles southwest of Shady Dell in Stoddard County. Water is topping the levee in about a 20 foot width.

A spokesman for the Little River Drainage District in Cape Girardeau said the break and water over the levee were due to "too much rain."

Heavy rainfall in the area this past weekend has caused the rivers to rise, toward new and higher crests, flooded streets in New Madrid, closed routes and highways, and a need for constant surveillance of the levee systems.

Monday afternoon, several funnel clouds were reported in the Matthews, Bernie, New Madrid and Dexter areas, although none were reported to have touched the ground or caused any damage.

The Sikeston - Portageville National Guard unit was called in Monday to help fight high water on the streets of New Madrid. The Charleston National Guard was placed on standby alert Monday afternoon at 1:07 p.m., although it has not been called in and does not know where it will go if called up.

Bob Hume of the public affairs office for the Memphis District of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers said "right now we are just trying to find out what to anticipate." He said the main line levees are overall in good condition but are saturated. They have undergone a severe test with the continued high water, he said.

Currently, there are some local wave wash problems, he added, but the corps is keeping the entire levee system under constant surveillance. At the Little River Diversion levee near Commerce, operations are now underway to spread polyethelene sheeting and sand bags to repair some wave wash on the levee.

"Basically, we know we have a lot of water out there," Hume said. "We are still trying to take a look at the current projections and see where we are."

The Memphis District of the Corps of Engineers has direct responsibility for 355 miles of the main stem of the Mississippi River. An emergency operation center has been set up in Memphis since the High waters began and will continue in operation until all high stages go down. Hume said this center maintains a 24-hour

BENTON — A representative from Otis Elevator Co. of St. Louis met with the Scott County Court Monday to discuss the possibility of installing an elevator at the Scott County Courthouse.

Although a set price was not given by the representative, Presiding Judge Les Lankford of Chaffee said the court felt the approximate price would be $20,000. Lankford said he didn't know if the County Court would want to spend that much money for an elevator, although it would mean the third floor of the courthouse could be utilized.

Members of the court will go to Jackson, Saturday, to inspect the elevator in the Cape Girardeau County Courthouse.

Lankford said a decision will not be made for at least six months on whether to install an elevator or not.

An elevator at the courthouse was proposed in a meeting before the County Court on April 12 as a possible answer to the problem in regard to the moving of the University of Missouri Extension Center meeting room from the second to the third floor and replacing it with the Magistrate Courtroom.

According to Lankford, the court is still undecided about what to do. "We just can't make up our minds," he said.

He also said he hopes Circuit Court Judge Marshall Craig will continue to let the Magistrate Court meet in the Circuit Courtroom until a decision is made.

Lankford said if the court does decide to install the elevator, the University of Missouri Extension Center will be moved to the third floor, but as of now the extension center has not been asked to move.

Shotgun death ruled accident

LILBOURN — The shotgun death Monday of Al Johnson, 10- year- old son of Tom and Mattie Johnson, was ruled accidental by New Madrid County Coroner Gene Clayton who investigaged with Deputy Sheriff Walte Ivy.

Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston notified the sheriff's department that the boy was dead on arrival about 9 p.m.

Clayton said he had been shot once in the right side behind the right shoulder with a 20 gauge sawed- off shotgun.

The shooting occurred at the youth's home in the North Lilbourn Delmo Project about 8:30 p.m. Clayton said the boy's 13- year- old sister was trying to get the gun away from a 5- year- old brother who was playing with it when the gun accidentally discharged and the bullet struck the victim.

The father was working at the time of the incident and Mrs. Johnson had left the home a short time to buy groceries.

No inquest will be held. The body is in Richards Funeral Home in New Madrid.

Charges dismissed

Assault charges against Art Garner, owner of the Rail Haven Motel on East Malone Avenue, were dismissed today in Magistrate Court after the complaintant did not show up in court.

Thomas Boyd of Chicago failed to appear in court and Judge Lloyd G. Briggs agreed with a defense motion to dismiss the case.

Boyd had complained that Garner pointed a .22- caliber rifle at him on March 8 and threatened to shoot when Boyd went to complain about a dog being in his room.

Milton Moore of Haywood City was sentenced to one year in jail on charges of driving without a license. It was the fourth time he had appeared in court on that charge. Charges of improper registration were dismissed. Moore also faces charges of speeding and resisting arrest in Sikeston City Court.

Raymond Patterson of Charleston Route One was sentenced to one year in jail on charges of car theft. He allegedly took an automobile from SeMo Motor Company for a test drive and did not return it.

A new attorney was appointed by the court to represent Eric Draper, 106 Westgate, who is charged with breaking into Lewis Furniture Co. on West Malone Avenue and stealing three television sets, one tape deck, an amplifier and a record player.

Ardean (Smokey) Johnson of Route One was placed on two- year probation after pleading guilty to assaulting Charles Long with a shotgun.

Robert Louis Blackman was placed on one- year probation on charges of driving a car without the owner's permission. He was fined $30 for driving without a license.

Lola Wilson, Jon Don Acres, was placed on two-year probation on a bogus check charge. A preliminary hearing for Danny C. Householder, Jon Don Acres, on a charge of possession of narcotics paraphenalia was set for May 1. A stealing case against Mike Jennings of Bernie was continued to May 22. Auto theft charges against Ricky Ayers of Bernie and Edward Hobgood of Bernie were continued to May 22.

South New Madrid is under control

NEW MADRID– City Administrator Don Lloyd said today excessive surface water in the city "is down pretty well all over town and the south half of town is under control. We have the north area still covered because of some restrictions in the channel flow, but we are concentrating on getting that opened up today.

"The Army Corps of Engineers sent in three 12- inch pumps this morning and they will be in operation late this afternoon," Lloyd said. The three pumps received today bring the total to 19, which will be operating around the clock.

While a prediction of 100 per cent chance of rain today and tonight and60 per cent chance for Wednesday makes continued progress appear dismal, Loyd said a setback would not be as great as over the weekend, because the additional pumping equipment and manpower provided by the National Guardsmen in aiding the removal of water will help lessen the accumulation.

Lloyd would not make a guess as to when sewer facilities might be restored to the high school on Highway 61, which went out of service Friday night after a major sewage lift station collapsed.

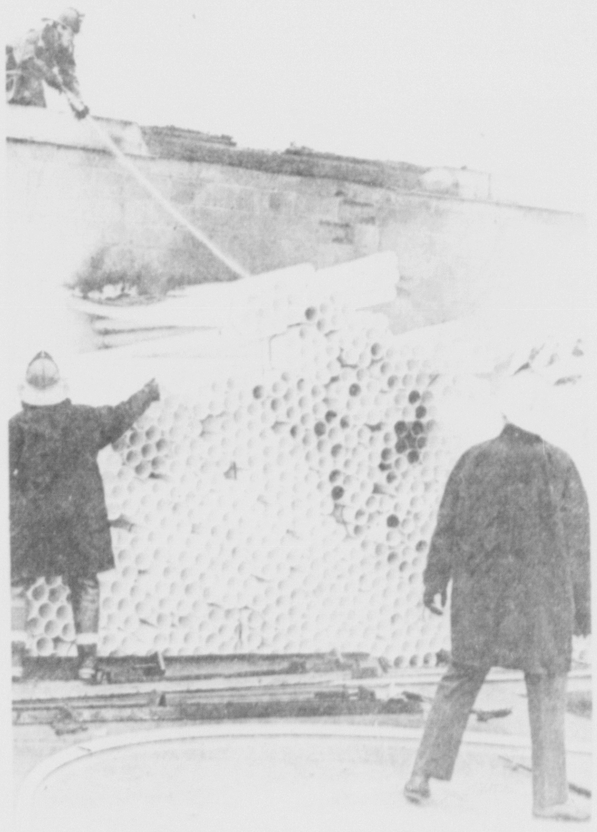

It would depend, he said, on how fast the water is removed from the north area and said they do have a plan on how to handle the problems.

There is some isolated street damage, but widespread damage is potentially developing, Lloyd said. Water is beginning to accumulate between the streets substructures and the blacktop seal, which will result in the pavement floating upwards.

There are reports of damage to basement walls and floors and water was in four homes on St. Thomas Street Monday.

National guardsmen from Company C of the 1140th Engineer Battalion of Sikeston began work Monday on a 24- hour basis in manning pumps and pump stations to assist work- weary city employes who have been combatting the flooding since Thursday around the clock. Just how long it will be necessary for the guardsmen to remain is not known.

Mrs. Libba Crisler, service to military families chairman of the New Madrid County chapter of the American Red Cross, said the organization is providing sandwiches, donuts, and coffee to the workers three times daily. Volunteers assisting her are Mrs. Dorothy Edwards, Mrs. Frances Ruby, Mrs. Joy Hendricks, Mrs. Virginia Recker, Mrs. Barbara Stoffer, Mrs. Pat Edwards, and Mrs. Sylvia Brown.

Plastic pipe burns

Firemen were called to Wholesale Supply of Sikeston Inc., 709 David Blvd., at 9:03 a.m. today when a pile of plastic sewer pipe caught fire, doing an estimated $1,000 damage to the roof and pipe. Here Earl McConnell (on ground) points out to Jim Hailey where to turn the hose. The fire is believed to have been started by burning trash.

5-year-old turns in false alarm

Firemen used their telephone trap for the first time Monday to trace the location of a person turning in a false alarm -- and they caught a five- year - old boy who had just learned how to dial the telephone.

Firemen got the call about 10 a.m. but did not send any trucks because they knew it was a false alarm. The boy said his house was on fire but gave a location different from where he was calling. The telephone trap gave firemen the number the call came from.

Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer went to the house to talk with the boy and his parents.

Linnemeyer said the father got a lecture and the boy got a spanking after admitting he made the call. The father apologized and said his son had just learned to dial a telephone.

Boy threatens mom, taken into custody

EAST PRAIRIE— A 16-year- old rural East Prairie boy was taken into custody shortly after noon Monday when the youth's mother complained to the sheriff's department that her son ahd threatened to harm her after sniffing glue.

Deputy Sheriff Mike Baughman chased the youth on foot about a quarter of a mile down Highway 80 east of East Prairie before apprehending him.

A second 16- year- old youth who allegedly had taken part in the incident was also taken into custody.

The two were turned over the juvenile officer Gordon Galemore and are in Mississippi County jail at Charleston.

NEW RULES FOR BABY SITTERS

That "times have changed" is indicated by a "Tips For Baby Sitters" flyer now being distributed by police in a wealthy suburb of Washington, D. C. In addition to the old-time "tips" such as: know each child's name and age; does he need special medicine; locate nearest outside exit from room in case of fire, etc., the pamphlet includes such additional advice as: Check all outside doors and lock them; do not let anyone in the house or open the door if you don't know the caller; in circumstances which arouse your suspicion, CALL THE POLICE; report suspicious circumstances to parents when they return home, etc.

It's a new, and sad day, when baby sitters have to be crime- watchers, too.

The National Association of Manufacturers has urged both business and labor to "make every effort to live within the voluntary standards" of President Nixon's Phase III program for wage and price stabilization. This will serve as an important means to the earliest possible elimination of controls, the Association stated. Reliance for protection against inflation should be placed on sound government fiscal and monetary policy and on strict limits on federal spending. And American industry should unleash a greater effort to increase productivity in the manufacturing and services industries of the nation in order to improve our competitive position both at home and abroad.

We read where the National Association of Counties has predicted the federal spending cutbacks "can be a fiscal, economic and political disaster."

The only disaster is that local levels of government will have to figure out ways to raise taxes to pay for the social services that the people of states and localities demand. Control of taxing and spending would then move closer to the people, and that's where it ought to be anyway. None of us are used to this.

The change, like anything else good for us, probably will be painful. Yet federal spending has to be controlled. If past trends in the cost and growth of the federal bureaucracy and federal social programs is continued, there will be "... a fiscal, economic and political disaster" of such proportions as to stagger the imaginations of most of us.

A man with too few worries is like a man with too little money. He doesn't get much sympathy or attention.

One way to keep your worrying in balance is to weed out periodically the worries you can't really do much about or don't feel excited about anyway.

For example, here are a few worries I have decided not to fret about — at least for the moment:

Scientists expect the climate to change slowly during the 21st century. But will it get colder or hotter? I'm going to let posterity handle this problem.

Why didn't anybody put his finger in the dike at Watergate?

Will women's skirts go higher or lower? When?

Isn't there some way to make professional athletes happy besides giving them more money than they know what to do with gracefully?

If the government puts a tax on breathing, will it do so at the source? Will we all have to wear tax meters on our noses? Well, then, will it be illegal to breathe through your mouth?

What new hobby will Frank Sinatra take up to cheer his golden years?

From what you have seen of it so far, when do you think the younger generation will pay off the national debt?

Why do psychiatrists, who have to think a lot, also tend to drink a lot?

Who was the bigger liar — the guy who named near beer or the guy who named free love?

Isn't it really high time that somebody did something about it all, whatever it is?

Certain rights and values are fundamental to human freedom. One of these is the right of private property ownership. Not so long ago, it was true that a warranty deed was a valuable document giving the individual a right to stand on his property, defend it against all comers, improve its value and benefit therefrom. Government had the right by eminent domain to condemn private property for "fair" compensation to permit construction of such things as a highway or railroad. But short of this, the property owner used to be protected by the law in his ownership of a valuable material asset.

Not so anymore. The owner of property still has to pay his taxes to support schools and county government, but to an increasing degree he no longer has the right to use his property as he sees fit. Across the U.S., changing land use rules make it possible to spend $10,000 or $15,000 or more for a piece of land only to find that local planning authorities, operating under zoning and land use ordinances, will not allow use of land -- even for construction of a private home. This amounts to destruction of property values by ordinance in which the individual's right to use his own property is wiped out by what is alleged to be the public interest in long-range planning which may never come to fruition during the lifetime of many property owners.

Private ownership of land is a fundamental of human freedom and that has a very high value. It would seem that the public interest would be best served if every effort were made to accommodate new planning procedures with due regard for the importance of preserving what, in a free society, must remain a fundamental right of the individual to own, develop and preserve the value of real property.

BOND NEWS FUNNEL UPSETS SENATORS

Jefferson City — The new centralized public relations office of Missouri is attempting to control news releases about bipartisan boards and commissions, the Missouri Senate was told yesterday.

Sen. William Cason (D-Clinton) charged the Missouri Information Service is requiring news be funneled through a central office where it is sometimes changed before being given to the news media.

Members of the Senate Appropriations Committee disclosed Monday that funds appropriated for other uses are being diverted to pay for the new program, which the Legislature has not approved.

"If former Gov. Warren Hearnes had done this sort of thing, there would have been several people up in orbit including me," Cason said.

Robert L. James, assistant to the governor, has said the program is valuable and that the service produces news releases, takes photographs and provides radio tapes about state news announcements.

The discussion began when Sen. Paul Bradshaw (R-Carthage) proposed that the Office of Administration be given greater power to reorganize and abolish agencies under the state reorganization plan now being debated in the General Assembly.

Sen. Albert Spradling (D-Cape Girardeau) said the Office of Administration already has too much power. He cited as an example the creation of the public relations program without legislative approval.

"There ain't no sunshine any more," Spradling said. "People elected your man to be governor, but I don't think they elected him to be king."

Spradling also asked senators to dial a telephone number he had been given. "When I dialed the number I thought it was going to be a prayer and instead it was the governor," Spradling said.

The number, which may be dialed by Missouri broadcasting stations to receive direct radio feeds about state government, is connected to the boardcast section of the Missouri Information Service. Reporters dialing the service yesterday found that news and commentary about the governor and one of his appointees was on the tape.

No identification is provided saying the material is from a public relations office. Instead listeners are told at the end of the tape: "From the Missouri State Captiol, this is Bruce Holmes."

Bruce Blomgren, director of the program, who uses the name Holmes on the tape, said he does not believe listeners are being deceived into believing the material is being provided by an independent newsman.

The Federal Communications Commission requires that television public relations handouts be identified as such on the air, but no such requirement exists for radio.

"After all we are at the state capitol," Blomgren said, adding that identification on the air of the material as a public relations offering "would make it cumbersome."

The proposed budget for the Office of Administration under the governor includes listings for an information director to be paid $15,972 a year and three information specialists at a total of $32,256. Other amounts are included for clerical employees and operating funds.

In other action yesterday the Senate debated the proposed Department of Higher Education in the state reorganization bill. The measure implements a constitutional amendment approved by voters in August.

The Senate agreed yesterday to give a proposed co-ordinating board for higher education broad powers over admissions requirements and student transfer provisions of public colleges and universities. Provisions for similar control over private schools was eliminated by amendments.

BELATED BONUS IDEA IS NO GOOD

Belatedly, the Legislature seems in a fair mood to pass a War II Veterans Bonus after 28 years have passed.

Even though the editor is a War II veteran and would probably receive a substantial sum, he is against it for two chief reasons.

One is that it would be paid from Federal Revenue Sharing Funds and we believe that money would be of greater benefit to veterans and everyone else if spent for such things as rural water districts, sewage treatment facilities, rural electrification, hospital or nursing home grants, and many others we could name.

The other is that after 28 years many of the veterans have died and the belated small bonus would not benefit them. It is also true that as the 28 years have passed, most of the veterans have either financially advanced enough to take care of themselves, or have starved to death if they were waiting for the state to help them by providing a cash bonus.

Americans throw away in a single year; 80 billion metal cans, 34 billion glass bottles, 40 million tons of paper, 7 million old cars and trucks, nearly 8 million TV sets and more than 3 million tons of plastic materials.

U.S. News & World Report points out that recycling, despite all the fanfare and headlines, is making scarely a dent in this mountain of trash. The volume of materials reclaimed to be used again not only is relatively small, but too often there are no buyers.

Meanwhile, the nation's trash increases more and more. In 1972, Americans produced an average of nearly 30 tons of waste per person. That will increase by an estimated 5 per cent this year.

Less than 2 per cent of the raw materials used by industry -- not including food or energy -- are derived from recycling, according to officials of the Environmental Protection Agency. They add that this proportion is decling in spite of all efforts to reclaim more from trash piles.

Many ideas of how to increase use of recycled materials are being projected as Congress prepares to revise the Resource Recovery Act of 1970, which expires June 30.

Samuel Hale, jr., head of solid - waste division of the Environmental Protection Agency, outlines these key points:

-- Initiatives to encourage greater use of recycled goods. These include studying possible changes by the Interstate Commerce Commission in freight rates for such goods , and encourageing the Federal Government to buy more products containing secondary material.

-- Federal guidelines for States and local waste- disposal programs, but no new money for resource-recovery demonstration plants.

-- State and local responbility to build and pay for improved waste- disposal systems, with the Federal Government providing technical assistance.

YOUNG PEOPLE ARE THE HOPE OF THE U. S.

Republic USA is blessed with so many wonderful young people that it is almost a miracle. We all need to pause ever so often and give thanks for the vast majority of good young people who bless our land.

A good thing to do is to notice good works by good young people and call attention to them. Letters to the editor provide an effective means to help publicize the good works of young people and to counteract the excessive publicity given to the few destroyers who clutter up the national news networks.

Our good young people know that freedom is vital and that liberty is not filth and bad manners and dirty clothing and dirty words. Youth seeks knowledge and a cause, but most of all youth wants to know that we seasoned campaigners believe in liberty and God and country and are willing to stand up and work for what we believe in.

Youth is impatient, and we should be thankful for it. The problem is that young people have not been taught about Freedom and how Freedom has made it possible that they don't have to worry about epidemics or famine wiping out millions of lives in one season, as happens in lands whose founders did not pass on to youth a heritage of Freedom.

Youth wants to enjoy. Freedom can be much more fun, for young and old alike, than following along with the herd of destroyers who hate Freedom and humanity. Good young people are organizing and passing the word to their peers that outwitting the enemies of Freedom is much more fun than falling in with their plans and being used to destroy Freedom. Youth is the hope of the future and will be the salvation of Republic USA. HLH'

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Chapin Admits Hiring Saboteur, Says It's Not Taxpayers Business

WASHINGTON-- President Nixon's recently resigned appointment secretary, Dwight Chapin, has confessed to a grand jury that he received regular written reports on the Democratic presidential candidates from Donald Segretti.

Earlier, Segretti refused to answer questions, on grounds of self- incrimination, about his activities as a Republican spy-soboteur.

Chapin swore behind closed doors that he hired Segretti, directed his activities and received reports in the mail from him. The reports contained information, which Chapin described as "virtually useless," on Sens. George McGovern, Hubert Humphrey, Ed Muskie, Henry Jackson and Gov. George Wallace.

"What have you done with these reports?" asked prosecutor Earl Silbert.

"I destroyed them," said Chapin, "usually the day that they were received. And if I may add, they were just one or two lines. It was something, for example, of 'Muskie rally, poor attendance, people unenthusiastic. Candidate was 40 minutes late,' or something."

'No One's Business'

Under bristling cross-examination, the handsome, haughty Chapin offered no explanation for apparent contradictions and once he declared imperiously that the employment of Segretti to sabotage the Democratic presidential campaign was none of the taxpayers' concern.

Chapin said he had given Segretti general instructions to go ahead with a sabotage campaign and had obtained White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman's approval afterwards.

"In other words," asked prosecutor Seymour Glanzer incredulously, "somebody had condoned it after you decided to do it. Where in the world would you get the idea that you had authority to go out and do it?"

"Well, I had authority to do a lot of things," retorted Chapin. "I had the authority to plan a presidential trip to China. I sure as hell had the authority to go and do some other things."

'Who Asked You To?'

"But somebody asked you to plan the trip to China, didn't they?" Glanzer shot back, "...namely, the President."

"Yes."

"All right," pressed Glanzer, "who asked you to go out and recruit somebody to do (political sabotage work)?"

"I don't know that anybody asked me to do it." Chapin conceded only that Haldeman had given his approval.

He described Segretti as "an astute person who knows what is going on and he knows what the issures are."

"But the reports he sent back," Glanzer noted, "you said were virtually useless."

"That's right," admitted Chapin. "I think you've got to put it in perspective. He probably was just in an infant stage..., he was in a learning process when he was sending that stuff. It was absolutely useless to us. I don't believe that we ever got one piece of information from Mr. Segretti in any way, shape or form that was useful...."

'Wasn't That Naive?'

"What steps," asked Glanzer, "did you take to make sure that this man, who was very bright yet in an infant stage, would not do something that would be embarrassing for the White House?"

"None."

"Wasn't that," broke in a juror, "rather naive for a gentleman like yourself who had been through so many campaigns prior to this, Mr. Chapin?"

The former presidential appointment secretary testified that he asked President Nixon's personal attorney, Herbert Kalmbach, to pay Segretti but gave him no guidance on how Segretti was earning his money. Chapin also insisted he had no idea what financial arrangements were worked out.

"How," asked prosecutor Donald Campbell, "was Mr. Kalmbach to know the scope of Mr. Segretti's activities in order to know what expenses or what monies he would have to allow Segretti for expneses?"

"I don't know," shrugged Chapin.

"I mean he had no way of knowing whether he would get two dollars a week or two thousand dollars a week, right?"

"That is correct."

No Guidance

"You never gave Mr. Kalmbach any guidance in that respect?" asked Campbell incredulously.

"No."

"Isn't that a little unusual?"

"It may be unusual," responded Chapin, "but that's true."

A juror, citing newspaper accounts that Segretti was paid a $16,000 salary and expenses, asked: "Isn't that pretty high for somebody to do such low-grade work?"

"I think that's a subjective thing," said Chapin.

The juror asked about Segretti's work as a legal assistant in the Army before he was discharged and went to work for the Republicans as a political spy- saboteur.

"He wasn't getting that salary in the Army, was he?" broke in Glanzer.

"I don't know if he was getting that salary in the Army," replied Chapin. "As a taxpayer, I would like to complain if he was."

"Well it might be," snapped Glanzer, "that taxpayers want to complain about him getting that salary doing the work he was doing (for the Republicans)."

"That's none of their concern," retorted Chapin. "This is private enterprise."

Construction Unions Lashed:

Dramatic Lawsuit Could Make History By Ending Labor's Powerful Immunity

PHILADELPHIA-- Members and some leaders of some of the most powerful unions in this city of brotherly love have been showing their fraternity in rather bloody fashion, according to Justice Dept. records, regional police blotters, bright young federal investigators--- and documents in a lawsuit brought against 52 construction unions and four labor councils.

This is a most unusual legal action. Among other matters in this suit is a request in the federal court here for relief from such sundry matters as attacks by clubs, baseball bats, crowbars, paint bombs, axes, bricks, fires, hammers, pick handles, pistol- whipping, riots and stones. Bulldozers have been destroyed; ribs and heads cracked; legs broken, and one man almost blinded.

This action filed here by a contractor and the non- union (open shop) Associated Builders and Contractors, Inc., is unique, indeed.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce is in the action with the other two plaintiffs. Thus the C- of- C, speaking for 5 million business firms, has thrown its heavy national weight and influence into this fight. They charge that building and construction unions in the greater Philadelphia area, which means parts of New Jersey and sections reaching into Pennsylvania counties west of here, have harassed non- union contractors for years.

And that the time has come to stop. And that the unions are in restraint of trade, trying to monopolize the huge industry and thus affect prices and business.

Further, the three plaintiffs jointly argue that the alleged monopoly is in favor of unionized contractors; that there is a conspiracy on the part of the unions, certain businesses and lending institutions to prevent non- union contractors from doing business in the region; and that suppliers and money credit sources have been intimidated in an effort to drive the non- union companies out of business by depriving them of customers.

There have been riots. There has been cruel violence. That's the record at least since January 1964. It has been probed by a crusading specialist, Mike Sloane of the Justice Dept.'s Management and Labor unit. There reportedly is continuing violence. Sloane and his colleagues here are preparing evidence for a federal grand jury.

There are philosophical and moral issues here as well as those grimly, sometimes ghastly, physical ones. There has been destruction of machinery, buildings and trucks. And there have been brutal beatings of men on construction jobs--- non- union jobs. There is no doubt of the right of local, regional, and national unions to attempt to unionize unorganized firms (open shop employers). But a crowbar is not a cardboard placard.

Why then is all this not a matter of concern to the many forthright national building and construction union general presidents who mass their men in huge legislative conferences, lobby on the Hill, and sign their names to statements seeking international justice and peace?

Who is responsible for this violence?

And is it ever justified in a drive for any cause--- especially by hard hats who have sung out so strenuously against campus destruction these past few years?

But apparently, according to the suit filed here, the objective of the 56 construction union defendants is not to unionize the open-shop contractors.

"There is no bona fide labor dispute between the defendant unions and plaintiff Altemose or other open- shop contractors," says the plaintiff's brief. "Defendants have expressly disavowed any interest in organizing the employees of Altemose and other open- shop contract "The purpose of defendants' acts is not to negotiate with plaintiff Altemose or other open- shop contractors for wages, hours, and conditions of employment or to obtain agreements on those or other matters which are legitimate labor union activities."

And there are other charges made in the court document by the Chamber of Commerce, the Associated Builders and Contractors, Inc. and the Altemose Construction Co.:

"The primary objective of the conduct and acts of the defendants is to restrain competition in the offering of construction services and the purchasing of such services by construction users...(and) to eliminate free competition in the construction industry in the Greater Philadelphia area by eliminating open- shop contractors from the construction industry by forcing them to cease doing business."

This is to say that the plaintiffs mean that the unions want to gain control of the construction industry in the area "for themselves and the union contractors by the creation of unlawful monopoly."

So the three plaintiffs have brought this action as a civil suit under the Clayton and Sherman anti- trust laws.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce and its joint plaintiffs want the court to grant them relief from harassment, from what they charge is monopoly-- and, in effect, for the first time to put unions under the anti- trust laws.

This would set a national precedent. It would, if supported by the courts, end labor's immunity from anti-trust and anti- monopoly laws. This case is a sleeper. Watch it.

Pounding out eight hits, while receiving five free passes and two hit batsmen, the Sikeston Bulldogs pounded out their sixth win of the season, as they trounced the Illmo-Fornfelt Rams, 6- 1 at Illmo-Fornfelt yesterday.

Buddy Cox, now seemingly set as a regular second baseman for the University of Missouri Tiger baseball team after fighting off all early spring competitors, was one of the leading hitters in Monday's game at Columbia against Kansas State, won by MU 25-3.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

[Mary] saw Jesus standing, and knew not that it was Jesus. (John 20:14)

PRAYER: Dear God, we thank Thee for Jesus and His resurrection. May He do for us what You did for Him--transform us, so we may be spiritually new creatures. In His name. Amen.

MACC to hold public hearing

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Air Conservation Commission will hold two sessions — a public hearing and a regular meeting — Wednesday at the Plaza Inn in Kansas City.

A public hearing on the compliance schedules submitted by air contaminant sources which have not yet demonstrated that they are meeting the state's clean air regulations will begin at 2:00 a.m.

Following the public hearing, the regular commission meeting will be held in the afternoon, and compliance plans presented at the morning hearing will be considered for approval.

The commission also will consider variance requests from the Columbia Municipal Power Plant; CPC International of North Kansas City; and the Marblehead Lime Co., Hannibal.

A two- month variance extension for the Joplin city landfill also will be considered.

Other items on the agenda include discussion of a traffic-control strategy to meet carbon monoxide standards in the Kansas City metropolitan area and a report on the status of suits currently in progress against Missouri polluters.

Hahn speaks on oil shortage

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The midwestern oil shortage could be alleviated by using some of the crude oil exported to Japan and Germany, John R. Hahn, executive secretary of the Missouri Oil Jobbers Association, said Saturday.

Han, in an interview on radio station KWOS, applauded President Nixon's action in relaxing oil imports, but said he would like to see more action toward control of the situation rather than reaction to it.

"I would like to see an immediate halt to exportation of crude oil to Japan and Germany," he said.

"I think the public would be astounded to know," the oil wholesalers association official said, "to know that in the last 12 months we exported from this country a million barrels of crude oil and 81 million barrels of refined fuel to Germany and Japan.

"I'd like to see that product used in this country ... I'd like to see the president declare oil-short areas such as in cases of droughts and natural disasters."

The United States collects 68,000 barrels a year of crude oil on royalties for drilling on government land and on offshore oil leases but under the law is entitled to 268,000, Hahn said.

Symington to receive degree

FULTON, Mo. (AP) — An honorary degree of doctor of political science will be presented to Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., at ceremonies at Westminster College May 5.

Symington will deliver the principal address at the university's alumni meeting, to be held that day. His sons, Stuart Symington Jr., a St. Louis attorney, and James W., a U.S. Congressman for Missouri, will attend.

Burlison addresses group

MALDEN — "House-Senate conferences this week reduced the authorizations for the Older Americans Act of 1973 from $1.5 billion to $500 million, 10th District Rep. Bill D. Burlison told a senior citizens organization Monday night.

Burlison said the act carried some new programs for senior citizens and enlarged on some that had proved successful in the past.

The Cape Girardeau Democrat said the failure of Congress to override earlier presidential vetoes on other measures influenced the Democratic leadership to compromise with the administration in order to get a bill approved.

Burlison also discussed some of the specific programs in the Older Americans Act and other legislation before Congress affecting senior citizens.

What's the law?

The case of the reluctant GI

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Several months after being drafted into the Army, Alvin felt like he had been mentally drawn and quartered. Consequently, he cited his extensive religious training and his sincere religious beliefs against war and demanded his immediate discharge from service as a conscientious objector.

"You've got to be kidding," responded an Army officer. "If you were a conscientious objector, you should have said so before you were inducted. Not it's too late. When you enter the Army you don't do it through a turnstyle. Once you're in, you're in!!"

"Well to tell you the truth, was Alvin's answer, "I didn't know I was a conscientious objector until after I finished basic training. And even then I wasn't too sure. The clincher was a course I was given in special weapons. When it was through, so was I.At that point, I knew for sure that my religious convictions would never permit me to be a soldier. It just hit me like a 500 millimeter shell."

When his demand for a discharge was turned down, Alvin took the matter to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you bar Alvin's discharge for his not claiming conscientious objector's status before induction?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that Alvin could not be denied a discharge as a conscientious objector merely because he claimed that status after his military training had begun and because he had waited until his views on the subject had formulated. If in fact, concluded the Court, he was truly sincere in his views and they are actually the products of his religious training and beliefs, he could not be denied a discharge because of the delay.

Ann Landers

Miami's gay population wants Ann's apology

Ms. Landers: I am sending you a copy of my recent letter to the editor of the Miami Herald in which I take exception to a column you wrote dealing with homosexuality. You said "... homosexuality is unnatural. It is, in spite of what some psychiatrists say, a sickness-- a disfunction."

I told the editor that I am a member of Miami's gay population and I do not read the Miami Herald for the purpose of finding myself (and 20 million of my sisters and brothers in the United States) referred to as "unnatural, sick or dysfunctional." I feel you owe the gay community of Miami an apology. Such blatant use of the language would not be tolerated by members of other minority groups. I find no reason why we should accept it.

The homosexual who wrote to you (he signed himself "One") bemoaned the fact that he and his lover could not hold hands in public, or dance together, or kiss if they felt like it. He pointed out that what the world needs is more love-- any kind of love. Your shallow reply allowed as how the world wasn't ready for THAT sort of thing because "it doesn't fit into our cultural pattern," or some such nonsense.

Apparently you're living in a sheltered environment, Ann Landers. My lover and I hold hands and kiss in public all the time. But it must be done naturally, without shame or spectacle. What could be more natural than two people in love holding hands and kissing?--- C.A.L., Miami Sexual Identity Crisis Center

Dear C.A.L.: From the day that column appeared in print I've been swamped with letters the likes of which I haven't seen since I printed my Omaha sister's meat loaf recipe.

The mail ran the gamut, from soft- spoken requests that I rethink my position to hysterical obscenities and threats.

I have re- thought my position and I believe my original conclusion is correct. Homosexuality is unnatural. Individuals who prefe- members of their own gender as sex partners are sick.

I noted your organization's motto at the bottom of the stationery: "A place for Hearing, Helping and Healing."

Hearing and helping are noble goals and I have deep respect for what you are trying to accomplish. But that word "healing" caught my eye. Healing, according to the dictionary, means "to make whole, to make sound--- to restore to health." Thank you for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: My steady and I are both 17 and have gone together for two years. We get along great most of the time, but when we fight it's horrible. We both have hot tempers and we end up hitting each other. (Usually I hit him first.) I've had some pretty ugly black and blue marks from where he punched me.Once I dislocated his jaw. We want to be married when we get out of school. I'm taking typing and shorthand so I can hold a good job and help put him through vocational school. But I worry about the fights. He says we won't have any fights after we are married because all our problems will be solved. What do you think?-- Mike's Kitten

Dear Kitten: I think when you are married you will fight and hit each other even more because there will be irritation from new problems that are bound to come up when people live together. Lots of luck. You'll need it.

Mirror, Mirror On the Wall...

Who is the loveliest of them all? You, of course . . . because you find all your beauty needs right here.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Kochel

Many things determine child's individualism

By Sharen K. Hunt
AREA HOME ECONOMIST

What makes up an indiviual? What determines his behavior? It is a composite of all that has happened to him up to this time: development of inherited tendencies, effects of prenatal environment and birth, our experiences during infancy and childhood, parents' attitudes, expectations and demands, relations with other family members and experiences with children and adults outside the family. This is what makes us all unique.

Unique is a necessary word in dealing with pre-adolescents and understanding them. Though his personality is well-formed by the time a child is 10, we are still influenced by each situation and relationship all through life, because development is never static. During the pre- teen years, parents often feel pushed aside. Peers, groups and gangs are all important and the big topic often is how old fashioned one's parents are. They often act as if they could care less about parents or home, but they need to know parents are ther to talk to, but not there as watch dogs for supervision only. Parents continue to play a key role in their growth during these years.

An interesting study conducted at Cornell University investigated the different forms of family authority structure and ways of bringing up children, "handling" pre- adolescents and the consequences these differences made in the child's or teen's behavior.

Egalitarian children, families where both parents had equal power and say so, were reported as more sensitive to feelings of others, better able to express their own feelings freely, more spontaneous, outgoing, cheerful and better adjusted. Also, they were seen as more irresponsible, childish, mischievous, flighty, anxious and more resistant to authority and they were consistently low in school achievements.

The researchers interprted this as the kind of peer-oriented "good guy", adjusted as all get out, spontaneous, maybe creative, but not doing very much.

In contrast, the children from the father- dominant family structures were rated high on leadership, daring, persistance and relatively high on responsibility and school achievement. But they were also seen as more indifferent, selfish and hostile and less sensitive to others' feelings and not so well accepted by peers.

Mother- dominant family authority patterns tended to reveal children as highly responsible, submissive, uninterested in the opposite sex, cooperative, controlled, deliberate, adult- oriented, well- behaved, shy, calm, friendly, with high aspiration and high achievement in school; "good kids in the worst sense of the word", not problem kids, but so adult- oriented that it seems they're no longer children.

So, what does this all mean, if anything? We can't push this research finding as the one and only answer, but those conducting the study, interpreted as implying that over- permissiveness can be just as disastrous as all out authoritarianism. In highly permissive homes, children kept showing up as low on responsibility and achievement, and high on anxiety and emotional immaturity. But this doesn't mean we should return to the days of strict, authoritarian parent, but that we adapt a middle- of- the- road approach, combining ample, but not smothering, levels of love and understanding with not crippling levels of discipline and control.

The goal is to be tough and firm and human and loving all at the same time. This is no snap job, but well worth the effort.

Dunklin County plans Sew With Cotton show

Strokes disable thousands

ST. LOUIS — Strokes disable an estimated 400,000 persons in the United States each year, reports the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Missouri.

A stroke occurs when the blood supply to a part of the brain tissue is cut off by a blood clot or a narrowing or rupture of a blood vessel. This may result in a weakened or paralyzed side, poor balance, loss of vision, or loss of proper speech. For some individuals, the damage may be beyond repair; for others, partial or total independence can be restored through prompt rehabilitation.

According to the society, stroke is a frightening and frustrating experience for the victim as well as his family.

To help clear up many commonly held misconceptions about one of man's oldest illnesses, the National Easter Seal Society has published a new leaflet, "Understanding Stroke", developed under the guidance of the society's professional advisors and counselors. It contains basic facts about the medical aspects of stroke, its effects on daily living functions and offers suggestions for understanding and helping patients.

Single copies of "Understanding Stroke", the first in a series of health education publications being produced by the society, are available free on request from the Easter Seal Society of Missouri, 1530 Big Bend Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. 63117.

The society also states that in line with its basic policy of direct assistance to individuals eligible for its services, it will provide wheelchairs, hospital beds and lifts that are medically prescribed for stroke patients.

Bicentennial tour deadline draws near

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The reservation deadline is approaching for individuals wishing to join one or both of the tours which Southeast Missouri State University has scheduled this summer as part of the university's observance of the Bicentennial of the American Revolution.

Each of the tours may be counted for three hours of either graduate or undergraduate credit at Southeast Missouri State. Each is of about two week's duration, and the cost of each includes round- trip transportation on an air-conditioned bus, first- class motel accommodations in twin rooms, admission prices for all sites visited, university fees and travel insurance.

Meals, for the most part, will cost extra.

Interested individuals must put down a $100 deposit prior to May 1, and the balance of the tour price is due by May 15.

Both tours are open to students currently enrolled at Southeast Missouri State, alumni, or persons not presently connected with the university.

The first tour, "The Colonial South and the Revolutionary War," will be June 18- July 1. Participants will visit Charleston, S. C., Winston- Salem, N. C., and Williamsburg, Richmond and Charlottesville, Va., among other cities.

They will also stop at various Revolutionary War battlegrounds and other spots of historical interest along the way. Cost of the 3,500- mile Colonial South Tour is $305.

Dates of the second tour, "The Colonial North and the Revolutionary War," are July 22- Aug. 5. Cost of the 4,000 - mile trip will be $400. Scheduled are all- day tours of both Philadelphia and Boston as well as visits to, among other places, the home of William Penn, the home of Nathan Hale, the Morristown, N. J., National Historical Park and Plymouth Plantation.

Interested individuals may write or call Dr. Arthur Mattingly of the university history department, or the dean of instruction's office at Southeast Missouri State for additional information and a detailed itinerary.

Annual music festival set for Friday and Saturday

COLUMBIA — A total of 314 high schools, represented by approximately 5,000 students, will take part in the 1973 Missouri State High School Activities Association Music Festival Friday and Saturday at the University of Missouri.

The annual event will involve schools in three enrollment classifications in which high schools with enrollments of 625 and above in grades 9-12 will take part in Class L; those with enrollments of 200 to 624 will be in Class M; and those under 200 in Class S. Class M schools will compete on Friday and Class S and L schools on Saturday. Students will enter solo and small ensemble events in both vocal and instrumental areas.

The state festival has an evaluative purpose. Students perform before top music critics who provide ratings and criticisms of their musical abilities. Participants in the event have received one ratings at their respective district festivals, which qualifies them for the state event.

Industrial awards to be presented

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Students, teachers and parents will have an opportunity Friday and Saturday to see outstanding examples of the work done by area industrial education students in grades 7-12 at the 24th annual Southeast Missouri District Industrial Education Awards Program.

Purpose of the program, which will be in Houck Field House at Southeast Missouri State University, is to promote and recognize creativity and craftsmanship in industrial education.

Projects to be entered in the competition will be registered and set up from 1 to 6 p.m. Friday and will be judged that evening. The public may view the displays from 8 to 10:30 a.m. Saturday and the awards presentations will begin at 10:30 a.m.

Area educators and businessmen will judge the projects and rate each as superior, about average, or average. Their decisions will be based on the general facotrs of design, creativity, quality, construction and craftsmanship.

One project from those receiving superior ratings will be named the best overall and the student who constructed it will receive the grand prize trophy.

Nineteen other projects from those rated superior will also be chosen for smaller trophies, and the 20 students will have the opportunity to take their projects to the statewide Missouri Industrial Education Awards Program in Columbia on May 5.

Other individual recognition will include three merchandise prizes and award certificates for each student receiving a superior, above average, or average from the judges.

Besides the individual awards, the school which has the greatest number of projects entered in the district program will receive a certificate, and the school whose projects are judged as demonstrating the best overall quality will receive a trophy from the Industrial and Technical Education Club at Southeast Missouri State.

Major divisions in this year's how are drawing, electricity, general shop, graphic arts, industrial crafts, metalwork, woodwork and open. These are further divided into 26 classifications. Entries in each classification will be judged in groups according to the grade level of the students.

All projects must have been constructed during the current academic year in the classroom under the supervision of an instructor.

Schools are not permitted to enter more than four projects per classification except that those schools which have local elimination projects approved in advance may enter all projects which receive blue ribbons.

Dr. James Sage, assistant professor of industrial and technical education at Southeast Missouri State, is chairman of the district program, and all members of the industrial and technical education faculty serve on the awards committee.

In addition, a district advisory committee has been formed this year. The co-chairmen are Dr. Donald J. Amelon and Ralph Pittman of the Southeast Missouri State faculty.

Other members are James Bowers, president of the Industrial and Technical Education Club; Ralph Hemann of Kennett, Dennis Meyer of Poplar Bluff, Thomas Morrey of Cape Girardeau, Ken Peters of Jackson, Ken Schlemeier of Desloge and Roger Talbot of Bourbon.

Dr. Sage said interest in the program seems to be increasing. The number of schools which participated last spring was up somewhat, and there was an overall increase of about 10 per cent in the number of projects entered, he said.

Response so far this spring has been very good, he added, and more growth is indicated.

New films at New Madrid library

Pilgrim Adventure— 54 minutes— color— McGraw. Recreates the gripping, often heartbreaking experiences of the small band of 17the Century Separatists whose indomitable courage and determination against tremendous odds form a brilliant chapter in the history of western man. Documentary follows the path of the Pilgrims from Babworth, England, where their journey began, to Holland and finally to America.

Poland: Land Under Communism— 22 minutes— color— EBF. This is a well developed and interesting film on one of the trouble spots of the world, showing in graphic detail the lives of a people caught in the power of a Communistic leader. It presents some sobering scenes of conditions in Poland today and the lack of freedom of the Polish people to do anything but accept their role in destiny.

Renoir— 23 minutes— color— Contemporary. The phases of life and artistic development that Pierre Auguste Renoir, the French impressionist painter, passed through are skillfully described by selections from his pictures. In the 50 outstanding works painted from the age of 20 until his death, the people he knew, the world he loved, the country side, his artistic strivings and his own warm personality are revealed.

Where He Walked— 14 minutes— color— Classroom Film. Many picturesque scenes typical of the Holy Land- background of Jesus life are shown as the narrator reads excerpts, mostly from the New Testament.

Speech and Protest— 22 minutes— color— Churchill. Film deals with specific amendment in the Bill of Rights. Opens with query about the limits to freedom of speech and assembly. Concerned citizens voice opposing opinions. First, amendments are introduced and three enacted sequences help the viewer to arrive at rational conclusions with respect to issues.

Stone Soup— 11 minutes— color— Weston Woods. Marcia Brown's version of an old folk tale about three tired, hungry soldiers who tricked the stingy French peasants into providing them with a banquet.

Dogs blank Devils, 9-0

SHS Bulldog netmen ran their spring record to 6-1 Friday as they whitewashed the Chaffee Red Devil netters nine matches to none on the Sikeston courts.

Coach John Heacox spelled the top three singles players for the match and allowed other squad members to see varsity action. He also rested two of SHS' top three doubles teams for the mat ch.

Bill Colwick started the sweep for the Bulldogs with a two set victory over Goin of Chaffee by scores of 6-3, 6-2. Matt Matthews downed Howard in 6-3, 6-0 sets while freshman Jeff Robey was turning back Mantel in identical set scores of 6-2, 6-2. Gary Whitworth and Thom Lemmons continued the winning smash by dropping their opponents, Free and Wolfe, by sets of 6-0, 6-0 and 5-7, 6-1, 6-4 respectively. Tom Walls gained the final Sikeston triumph in singles by rapping Sadler 5-7, 7-5, 6-2.

David Hahs and Brad Buchanan teamed in doubles competition to down Goin and Howard 6-3, 6-0 while Robey and Craig Vogel blanked Mantel and Free in 6-0, 6-0 sets. In the final match of the day, Chuck Medelberg and Prince McDougal defeated Wolfe and Sadler of CHS in sudden death pro- eight play, 8-7.

The Sikeston racketmen have three rained out matches rescheduled for this week as they traveled to Caruthersville this afternoon to meet the Tigers, host Cape Central Wednesday on the Sikeston courts, and visit Poplar Bluff Thursday to take on a tough PBHS net squad.

RESULTS:
Bill Colwick beat Goin 6-3,6-2
Matt Matthews beat Howard 6-3, 6-0
Jeff Robey beat Mantel 6-2, 6-2
Gary Whitworth beat Free 6-0, 6-0
Thom Lemmons beat Wolfe 5-7, 6-1, 6-4
Tom Walls beat Sadler 5-7, 7-5, 6-2
Doubles
David Hahs- Brad Buchanan beat Goin- Howard 6-3, 6-0
Craig Vogel- Jeff Robey beat Mantel- Free 6-0, 6-0
Chuck Medelberg- Prince McDougal beat Wolfe- Sadler 8-7

SHS Golfers lose

Brad Locke fired a two - under - par 70 Monday afternoon to lead the Poplar Bluff golfers to a dual victory in simultaneous matches over the duffers from Sikeston and Cape Central. The Mules had a winning foursome team score of 295 for the 18 holes as Cape and Sikeston followed with respective scores of 309 and 338.

Locke and teammate David McMurray each had first round totals of 34 for the par 36 nine holes. McMurray came back with a 38 with second round and Locke a 36 to leave McMurray at par 72 and his mule counterpart two under par. Pete Godwin also had a 76 and Lynn Miller a 77 for PBHS.

Jeff Hutton fired a 38 the second round for Cape to go with his even par first round and an 18 hole total of 74. Rounding out the foursome were Ron Fisher and 77 and Mike Logel and Mark Edward with 79 each.

For Sikeston, Dennis Meyer had a blazing first round of 35, but fell to a 39 on the second nine holes to take low shooting honors for the Bulldogs with a 74. Mark Shaw followed with a good second round of 40 and an 18 hole tally of 85 while Bill Wake was a single stroke back with an 86. Wake also chipped out a fine first round score of 39. Galen Kruger rounded out the SHS foursome with a score of 90.

The Mules will put their 8-0 record on the line Wednesday afternoon as they visit the Sikeston country club to take on a winless, but optimistic group of Bulldogs coached by Robert Buchanan. Sikeston was slated to play its seventh match this afternoon with Coach Jim Hall's Bearcats at Dexter, but inclimate weather may pre-empt the meet.

Games re-set

Sikeston Bulldog baseball team was slated to host the undefeated Charleston Blue Jay baseballers Tuesday afternoon at V.F.W. stadium in a four o'clock contest, but once again rain was in the daily forecast, which would have made play very difficult on the already soggy turf.

Coach N. P. McDaniel's crew are also scheduled to visit Cape Girardeau tomorrow to take on the Central Tigers at Capaha field. Sikeston goes into district competition next week, and their opponents will be announced later in the week.

Matthews among stars

KIRKSVILLE, Mo.--- Coach Sam Nugent's Northeast Missouri State University Bulldogs have lost 14 of 17 baseball games this season and have a team batting average of only .180 but one bright spot on the team is freshman Greg Matthews, former athlete from Dexter, who is the second leading, hitter on the team with a .285 average. Matthews is listed as an infielder and outfielder for coach Nugent.

Cards near NL record

ST. LOUIS (AP)— "It's hard to believe. The players feel bad about it, but they're going to keep coming out."

St. Louis Cardinals Manager Red Schoendienst, rather than calling for an overhaul, said Monday his team needs a tune up to get off the ground in the National League.

"Most of all it's hitting," said Schoendienst, whose Cardinals have rivaled the worst of the old New York Mets with their 1- 12 beginning.

"I can't remember any team having gotten off any more poorly than ours," Schoendienst added, "but I'm not concerned about records for futility. We just want to start winning."

The Cardinals, who Sunday dropped both ends of a double- header to the Philadelphia Phillies, have a record close to the worst in the history of baseball.

While a fledgling entry, the Mets in 1962 posted the same record but won their next game.

To find anything worse, one must go to the American League record book. Both the 1904 Washington Senators and the 120 Detroit Tigers had 1- 13 beginnings.

"We didn't think we were going to set the league on fire because our hitjting fell off at the end of spring training," Schoendienst said, "but this is something I couldn't have imagined."

Schoendienst, who has parlayed patience into a nine-season term as Cardinals manager, finally shook up his line- up Sunday.

He inserted Tim McCarver at catcher, moved Ted Simmons to first base and returned Joe Torre to third base in the second game of the twin bill.

But the Cardinals, whose team batting mark is .227, garnered only five hits off Philadelphia rooke Dick Ruthven. It was left to closing pitcher Bob Gibson to score the run in a 2- 1 defeat.

"We've had some pretty good pitching at times," Schoendienst noted, "We've just got to start hitting the ball more. We're not tight. We're just not scoring enough runs."

A workout was scheduled Monday for the Cardinals, whose only win to date was 6- 3 over the Chicago Cubs April 13 behing right- hander Rick Wise. Wise, 1- 1, is the scheduled starter Tuesday night in the opener of a two-game series against the Los Angeles Dodgers at Busch Stadium.

"One of these days we're going to break out of it," Schoendienst promised. "We're just thinking about winning. We're not giving up yet."

SHS relay teams possible state qualifiers

Missouri State High School Athletic Association announced the sites for the district and state outdoor track meets which will be held across the state in classes S, M, and L between May 5 and May 20. Eight class 'L' sites across Missouri have been designated for district competition with state track events slated for 10 a.mm. at Columbia in the University of Missouri's Memorial Stadium on May 20.

SHS cindermen willl be competing Saturday, May 12 with 11 other squads to qualify four participants in each event. The district meet will be held at House Springs Northwest High School of St. Louis and the participating schools will be Fox of Arnold, Cape Girardeau Central, Farmington, Northwest of House Springs, Poplar Bluff, Sikeston, Affton, Kirkwood, Lindberg, Mellville, Vianney, and Webster Groves.

Several Bulldogs are potential state qualifiers for Coaches Jim Graham and Al Holmes. They include Phil Cannon in the 880-yard run, Clifton Ham in the mile run, Jerry Wilder in the triple jump, and Curtis Bean in the 100- yeard dash and the long jump.

The 880-, mile, and two mile relay teams are also state bound hopefuls. Wilder, Kelly Hughes, Terry Martin, and Larry Blue make up the 880 - yard relay squad; Bean, Cannon, Ham, and Wilder the mile relay foursome; and Ham, Cannon, Lee Haines, and Jim Matthews the two mile relayers.

Sikeston will be "tuning up" for district competition this week with the Cape relays meet at six p.m. Thursday and the rescheduled East Prairie invitational meet at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Bartow heads cage clinic

ST. LOUIS, Mo.— Gene Bartow will head the 7UP Basketball Coaches Clinic which will be conducted in St. Louis Friday and Saturday, April 27 and 28, at the Mariott Motor Hotel. Other Clinic staff members are Don DeVoe, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and University; Bob Knight, University of Indiana; Jack Kraft, University of Rhode Island; Ted Owens, University of Kansas, and Joe Heath, Jefferson High School, Lafayette, Indana.

Coach Bartow led the Memphis State Tigers to the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) tournament finals in March. Named the 1973 Coach of the Year by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, Bartow's college coaching record is 202- 113. He was head coach of the Puerto Rican national team, which won the silver medal in the 1971 Pan- American Games in Cali, Colombia, and which placed fifth in last summer's Olympics at Munich.

DeVoe, whose techmen captured the 1973 National Invitational Tournament (NIT) title in March, completes his second season at Virginia with a 38- 15 record. He was a member of this year's Mid-East selection committee.

Jack Waterbury, director of advertising- public relations for the Seven- UP Bottling Company of St. Louis, will welcome coaches to the opening Clinic session at 1:00 P.M, Friday at the Marriott.

Warriors come back

OAKLAND (AP) — The Golden State Warriors had nowhere to hide and a lot of pride to regain.

"We couldn't end it in humiliation," said Cazzie Russell, the man most responsible for the Warriors' being alive today in their National Basketball Association playoff series with Los Angeles.

Russell, playing only 28 minutes, scored 33 points Monday night as the Warriors registered a 117-109 victory over the Lakers, the team that beat them 126-70 two nights earlier to take a 3-0 lead in the best-of7 Western Conference championship series.

The upset at the Oakland Coliseum Arena came before many of the same home fans who walked out on the Warriors during Saturday night's game.

"We didn't want to be embarrassed again," said center Nate Thurmond, who scored 23 points and outrebounded the Lakers' Wilt Chamberlain, 1816.

The Lakers-Warriors clash was the only pro basketball action Monday night. Their series could end Wednesday night on the home court of the defending champion Lakers.

The New York Knicks hold a 3-1 edge over Boston in the Eastern finals, with the fifth game scheduled Wednesday night in Boston.

In the American Basketball Association, Kentucky and Carolina are tied 3-3 going into tonight's game in Greensboro, N.C. The winner will face Western champion, Indiana, for the league champions.

No NBA team ever has been down 3-0 and rebounded to win a playoff series.

"It sounds silly, but we're still in it," said Russell. "We may make history."

Russell replaced starting forward Rick Barry late in the first quarter and made six straight jump shots. The Warriors led 31-21 at the end of the quarter and were ahead 47-30 midway in the second period when Russell completed his hot streak.

But Jerry West made sure the Lakers were not on their way to embarrassment. He scored 17 points over the next eight minutes and Los Angeles led 64-58 early in the third period.

West totaled 32 points in the game, and his six assists gave him a career total of 940 in playoff games, breaking the record of 937 held by Boston's Bob Cousy.

Rose blossoms early

CINCINNATI (AP) — "If I was paid for my production in the first two months...I'd be carrying a lunch pail," is how Pete Rose of the Cincinnati Reds has often described his hitting at the start of each baseball season.

How times have have changed.

Rose, who last year became the only active major leaguer to hit .300 or better for eight consecutive seasons, is off to one of the hottest starts of his 11-year career.

He has already has collected 23 hits and is swinging his bat at a lusty .343 clip.

"When you have a history of bad starts like I do, this is most welcome," said the veteran outfielder, who turned 32 last week.

The quick start could mean Rose's return to the 200-hit plateau for the first time since 1970.

He's shooting for his third National League batting title, having won back-to-back titles in 1968 and 1969.

He had 29 hits for all of April 1968 and 26 in 1969. He still has five games left this month.

"This is really icing on the cake, because I'm traditionally a hot weather hitter," said Rose, who had only 16 hits in April 1972 but batted .323 in the last month of the season to finish with a .307 average.

"But it doesn't mean I can coast those last couple months. To hit .300 you need what we call hitter's luck. A hit a week is all the difference in the world over a season." Rose had two hits in nine of the Reds' first 15 games and mounted an eight-game hitting streak.

He's expected to claim his 2,000th career hit in June if he maintains his present pace. He says 3,000 is his lifetime goal.

Yanks cure ills

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Yankees used a Hart transplant and a would be doctor to cure some of their ills Monday night.

Designated hitter Jim Ray Hart continued his sensational hitting by driving in two runs with a single and double and rookie George "Doc" Medich, with relief help from old preacher Lindy McDaniel, posted his first major league victory as the Yankees ended a two-year skein of seven consecutive losses to Milwaukee by defeating the Brewers 5-2.

In the only other American League game, the California Angels whipped the Oakland A's 4-0 while the Houston Astros blanked the San Diego Padres 2-0 in the only National League action.

Since the Yankees acquired Hart from the San Francisco Giants last week, the veteran 31-year-old slugger has rapped out eight hits in 13 at-bats— that's a .615 average—with five runs batted in. He singled home one of two fourth-inning runs off loser Bill Parsons and doubled home another as the Yanks added three in the fifth.

While Medich, a third-year medical student at the University of Pittsburgh, is studying toward a career in orthopedics, Hart is taking a cram course in AL pitchers.

"In cold weather like this I get stiff not playing in the field," he said, "but I'm able to concentrate more on hitting. Being new to the league, it's helped me to be able to sit in the dugout and study the pitchers to learn something about them. It's helped my concentration on hitting, and maybe this (the designated hitter) rule can help me last three or four more years. I don't have to worry about fielding ground balls. I would like to play, naturally, but it would be kind of tough here with a hell of a player like (Graig) Nettles at third."

Medich, a tall 24-year-old right-hander, held the Brewers to one hit and struck out six until the sixth inning, when Pedro Garcia and Bob Coluccio tagged him for solo homers. The 37-year-old McDaniel a lay preacher during the off-season, took over with two on and one out and blanked the Brewers the rest of the way, fanning six more.

Still on a medical kick, the Astros ran their winning streak to five in a row, all since Manager Leo Durocher was confined to a Houston hospital with an inflammation of the colon. Dave Roberts and Jim York scattered eight hits and Doug Rader hit a two-run homer in the second inning. Loser Bill Greif had not allowed a run in 15 innings this season when he walked Jim Wynn with one out in the second and Rader, batting only .177, hammered his home run about halfway up the mezzazine section in left field.

The game was spiced by an apparent brushback duel between Roberts and Greif in the fifth inning. Members of both teams poured onto the field but no punches were thrown.

Rudy May pitched a five-hitter and Frank Robinson delivered a two-run single to lead the Angels over the floundering world champion A's.

The Angels scored three times in the third inning in sending winless John "Blue Moon" Odom to his fourth defeat.

House to hold special session

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — After a week long vacation, the Missouri Senate reconvened today to begin debate on bills to expand the public defender system and widen regulation of lobbyists.

Meanwhile, the House, which goes back to work this afternoon, has scheduled a special session tonight to consider tentative approval of two bills dealing with abortions.

Under the Senate public defender proposal, the program would be expanded so defenders could aid persons accused of misdemeanors as well as felonies.

The other Senate measure would require persons to register as a lobbyist if they appear before a legislative committee more than eight times in one session.

In addition, all persons testifying before a committee would have to register with the House clerk or Senate secretary.

Tonight the House will take up bills to revise Missouri's abortion laws, following the U.S. Supreme Court's landmark decision striking down abortion laws that regulate abortions within the first three months of pregnancy.

The high court's ruling said state laws limiting abortions only to those cases where the mother's life was in danger were unconstitutional.

Missouri is among 30 states with such statutes.

The bill before the House is a committee substitute for two more stringent bills introduced soon after the Supreme Court ruling.

It places no restrictions or regulations on abortions in the first three months.

For the remainder of a woman's pregnancy, the bill provides a woman must given her written consent and all possible steps must be taken to preserve the life of the fetus.

If the child lives it becomes a ward of the state. It also provides only licensed doctors can perform abortions.

The other measure the House will consider would exempt doctors, nurses and hospitals from performing abortions if it conflicts with their religious or moral convictions.

In the special night session, the House will also consider a bill to allow the state to give money to local public housing authorities to assist persons on fixed incomes.

Bond proposes new plan for additional aid to elderly

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A program for the state to provide special services to the elderly, disabled and blind, and to make sure their benefit checks are not cut when the federal government begins a new payment plan next Jan. 1, was sent to the Missouri legislature Monday by Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

The governor said when the federal district payments begin, the state will have to make up the difference from about 85,000 recipients whose checks will be decreased.

Because the new fiscal year begins July 1, Bond urged the legislature to take action before the present session ends in June. He said it would cost the state about $25 million for the supplemental aid and new service program for the last half of the 1973-74 fiscal year. The annual cost for the next full year was estimated at about $50 million.

Bond said of the proposed new services:

"This program would have substantial impact on those whose need is greatest, specifically those requiring domiciliary and practical nursing care."

Included in a four-level nursing home care program to provide skilled care, intermediate care, practical nursing care for those not acutely ill and domiciliary care facilities to provide food, shelter and personal services to those who need it.

Also proposed is an adult services program for elderly persons living alone and not able to adequately care for themselves. This includes day care facilities to enable a spouse or other relative to be employed, foster care services to place adults in private homes, chore services for shopping and home maintenance and a number of other home management services.

Boy shot in accident

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP)-The state's turkey hunting season was only a few hours old today when Steve Juenger, 19, of St. Louis County, was shot and seriously injured while hunting in woods north of here, police said.

Juenger was struck in the upper portion of his body by a shotgun blast fired by the boy's uncle, Michael Juenger, 58, of Overland, police said.

The youth was taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff and was listed in serious condition with injuries to both eyes. He was transferred to Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

Police said the youth was wearing camoufalged clothing and hiding in some weeds when the accident occurred.

Rationing unlikely

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The acting director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness said Monday indications are gasoline supplies will be tight this summer but he called the possibility of rationing "highly unlikely."

Darrel M. Trent said in an interview here fuel inventories are below normal for this time of year in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, but increased production is expected in the three states.

The unusually cold winter, with production of heating fuel taking precedence over automotive fuel, probably would result in spot shortages throughout the nation this summer, he said.

"I think the numbers indicate that this summer we will have a tight gasoline situation," Trent said. He noted that the level of gasoline production will remain satisfactory this summer, but problems could occur in distribution because inventories are not always where the demand is.

He said the OEP has drafted plans for gasoline rationing if necessary but "we view gasoline rationing as highly unlikely."

Trent also discounted the suggestion that gasoline prices will soar during the summer. He said the Cost of Living Council is keeping a close watch on prices and has guidelines for the industry to follow.

Watkins arrested

BENTON — The Scott County sheriff's department has announced the arrest of Larry William Watkins of Sikeston Route Two for driving while intoxicated and improper registration.

5 arrested

Police today announced five arrests, four for traffic violations and one on a bad check charge.

McCrate break-in

PORTAGEVILLE — McCrate Equipment Co., 421 E. Main St., was burglarized Monday night. Four or five dollars in change was reported missing.

Entry was gained by breaking a window.

Disruption at Hamilton's cafe

HAYWOOD CITY— A fight at Hamilton's Cafe between 7 and 8 p.m. Monday resulted in injuries to two women, according to the Scott County sheriff's department.

Doris Turner, 24, was treated at Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston for a razor blade cut across her face from ear to ear. She reportedly received 50 stitches to close the wound. Her sister, Rose, 16, was also cut.

The sheriff's office is still investigating the incident.

4 injuries in area accidents

Two area traffic accidents Monday resulted in four injuries, the highway patrol said today.

Marvin Clowers, 47, of Wardell received scalp cuts at 10:10 a.m. when he failed to stop his flatbed truck at a stop sign at the intersection of Highways 114 and 153 and pulled into the path of a car driven by William Hylton, 54, of Cape Girardeau.

Hylton suffered cuts and bruises and several broken ribs. A passenger in Clowers' truck, William Duncan, 44, of Wardell received mouth bruises. They were taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.

Timothy Patrick Allred, 23, of East Prairie sustained bruises at 9 a.m. when his car, traveling at a high rate of speed, ran into a guard rail on Highway 80 one mile east of East Prairie. He was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Notice to Consumers with Respect to Claims in Connection with Quinine, Quinidine and Other Cinchona Products

An individual plaintiff has commenced an action and the Executrix of his estate has been designated as representative of a class consisting of the following:

All users of quinine, quinidine, other cinchona products, or any other related product or substance, for medicinal purposes in the United States or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

This action seeks damages resulting from alleged violations by the defendants of certain provisions of the antitrust laws. It is alleged in substance that during the period 1958-1966 the defendants conspired to restrain trade and commerce in the manufacture and sale of quinine, quinidine and other cinchona products. It is further alleged that as a result of this conspiracy purchasers of such products have been compelled to pay higher prices than they otherwise would have paid.

The defendants have denied the allegations and have denied liability.

On April 2, 1973, certain of the defendants, while denying liability, entered into a Stipulation of Settlement with the plaintiff class representative, a copy of which is available for inspection at the Office of the Clerk of the Court, referred to below. Under that Stipulation of Settlement $725,000 plus the income earned thereon, less expenses of the settlement and such amount as the Court might allow in payment to plaintiff's attorneys for their fees and expenses, would be paid to members of the class hereinabove described in settlement of their claims against the settling defendants. The defendants have the right to withdraw from the proposed settlement on certain terms and conditions as set forth in the Stipulation of Settlement. In the event the defendants exercise this option to withdraw, plaintiff's attorneys will have the right to petition the Court for an award from the settlement fund of their fees and expenses to that date.

The class hereinabove described has been established by this Court for the purpose of administering the Stipulation of Settlement.

Now, therefore, take notice:

(1) You will be excluded from the class by this Court if you request such exclusion in writing sent to John J. Harding, Clerk of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, P. O. Box 95, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19105, postmarked not later than May 24, 1973;

(2) If you do not request exclusion from the class by May 24, 1973, you will be included in such class and any judgment whether favorable or not, including any judgment approving any settlement, will be binding upon you;

(3) If you do not request exclusion from the class but prefer in connection with your individual claim to be represented by your own counsel rather than by counsel to the class representative, you may enter an appearance through your counsel but not later than May 24, 1973;

(4) If you do not request exclusion from the class, you must mail to John J. Harding, Clerk of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, P. O. Box 95, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19105, postmarked not later than June 8, 1973, a statement indicating that you intend to file a claim and setting forth your name and full address. If you do not mail such a statement, postmarked not later than June 8, 1973, that will constitute an authorization that money paid in settlement but not allocated to individual claims may be utilized for the public benefit in such manner as the Court may direct;

(5) A hearing will be held before the Court, beginning on June 20, 1973, at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon in Room 4 of the United States Court House, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The purpose of the hearing is to determine whether the proposed settlement should be approved by the Court under Rule 23(e) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. If the settlement is approved and becomes effective in accordance with the terms of the Stipulation of Settlement, this action will be dismissed on the merits as against the settling defendants with prejudice;

(6) A hearing shall be held before the Court in Courtroom No. 4 in the United States Court House, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on June 20, 1973, at 4:00 p.m. for the purpose of determining whether the Stipulation of Settlement, dated April 2, 1973, between plaintiffs and certain of the defendants is fair, reasonable and adequate and should be approved;

(7) Any member of the class who objects to approval of the settlement, or the judgment to be entered thereon, may appear at the hearing and show cause, if any he has, why it should not be approved and why judgment should not be entered thereon. However, any objection must initially be made in writing and filed with the Clerk of the Court on or before 5:00 p.m. on June 4, 1973, showing thereon service of a copy on counsel for plaintiffs, Aaron M. Fine, Esquire, 1214 IVB Building, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19103 and on counsel acting for settling defendants, Bernard J. Smolens, Esquire, 1719 Packard Building, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19102;

(8) No member of the class shall be entitled in any way to contest the approval of the terms and conditions of the Stipulation of Settlement, or, if approved, the judgment to be entered thereon, unless he has served and filed written objections in accordance with paragraph 7 above, and any member of the class who fails to object in the manner prescribed shall be deemed to have waived, and shall be foreclosed forever from raising any objections except by leave of court for good cause shown; and

(9) If the proposed settlement of this action is approved, it is contemplated that thereafter each class member who has filed a timely notice of intention to file a claim will be given an opportunity to file a claim and will thereafter be given an opportunity to be heard as to the allowance or disallowance of its claim and as to the portion of the settlement fund, if any, to be allocated to its claim.

Dated: April 24, 1973

John J. Harding,

Clerk of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, P. O. Box 95, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19105.

THE CITY OF SIKESTON
MISSOURI
Resolution

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of one and one- half inch hotmix asphaltic pavement on six inch soil cement base with concrete curb and gutter on and along East Gladys Street from Selma to dead end in the City of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Sikeston, State of Missouri, as follows: Section 1: That the Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said Street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the City of Sikeston. Section 2: That the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. Section 3: That the estimated cost of the improvement is $5.85 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. Section 4: That payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the State of Missouri and the ordinances of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the City Council the General Revenue fund of the City of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. Section 5: That any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the State of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the Industrial Commission of Missouri. Section 6: That the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this Resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the City of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 3rd day of April, 1973. Approved: FRANK FERRELL, Mayor; Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk.

2 teachers retiring

DEXTER — Retiring this year from the Dexter school system are Mrs. Iris Sheehan and Mrs. Lovie Stoll. Both teach at the junior high school.

Mrs. Sheehan has been at Dexter Junior High for six years, four as a counselor and the last two as a mathematics teacher.

She was born in Gideon. She received a Life State Teaching Certificate in 1926 after two years study at Southeast Missouri State Teacher's College in Cape Girardeau. Later she earned a bachelor's degree from SeMo State and in 1964, she received a master's degree from University of Missouri.

Her husband, Mart Sheehan, was in construction but died last November after a lengthy illness. Her son, Keith Sheehan, earned a civil engineering degree at Rolla and now lives in Stamford, Conn., where he works for a construction firm.

Prior to coming to Dexter, Mrs. Sheehan taught at Gideon for one year, 31 years at Risco and was a counselor for six years at Clarkton. She has taught all age levels from elementary through high school, teaching math and social studies.

When not working she likes to sew and cook.

Mrs. Stoll likes sewing, too, especially hand work and piece quilts. She was born in Leora and earned her elementary degree at SeMo State about 1930. In the early 1950s she earned a bachelor's degree in education with a concentration in English, which she teaches at Dexter. She also has several credits towards a master's degree.

Mrs. Stoll taught all subjects for seventh and eighth grade classes in the Gray Ridge district, now part of Richland, before coming to the Dexter district.

She has taught 30 years here, second graders for three years, sixth graders two years and for the remainder has taught English to seventh and eighth graders.

Mrs. Stoll lives in Cape Girardeau. During the school year, she stays weekdays in Dexter and drives to Cape for weekends. Her husband, Elmo Stoll, is partially retired but still raises some cattle. They live on a farm on West Cape Rock Drive.

7 treated

With $125 * down, you'll be sitting pretty

Just a cash down payment of $125, and $71.48 a month for 36 months, * gets you a brand new Volkswagen without destroying your bank account.

(In case you haven't figured it out, that works out to a deferred payment price of $2573.28 which includes a finance charge at an ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE OF 10.20%.)

So after you buy a new VW, you still have plenty of money to sit pretty with.

Especially since a Volkswagen only requires about 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts.

Or the fact that you never have to buy antifreeze because of its air-cooled engine.

And it doesn't cost you a fortune for gas. About a gallon for every 25 miles  or so will keep it happy.

Now if you're already sitting pretty and you hate to bother with financing, we don't mind if you pay for it all at once.

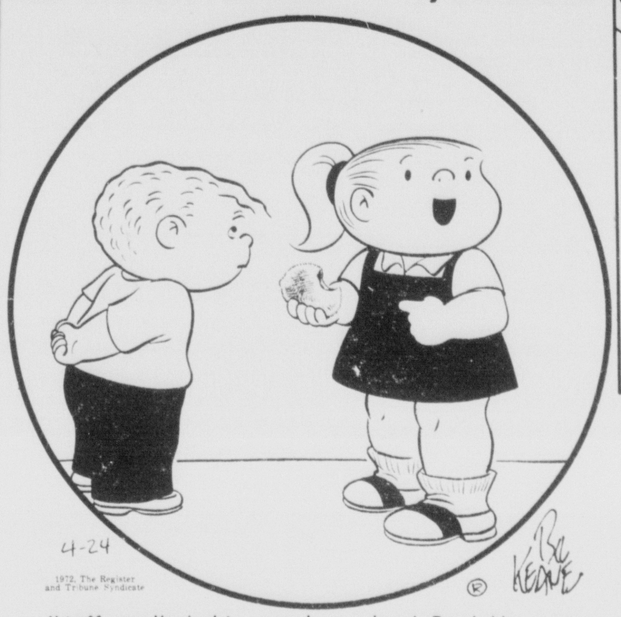

Then the cash price would be $2334.

* Volkswagen Sedan III, with standard 4-speed transmission. Credit terms listed apply to qualified buyers only.

The city of St. Louis was bracing for the highest crest there in history, 43.5 feet expected Thursday or Friday.

The previous record for St. Louis, where flood stage is 30 feet, was set in 1785 when the river rose to 42 feet.

Residential areas on the city's South Side were hit by flooding Monday as water from the Mississippi backed up into the drainage canal River Des Peres. Many residents were again forced out of their homes after returning only last week when earlier floodwaters receded.

The rising water of the Mississippi forced the Corps of Engineers to close the last two locks on the river in the St. Louis District, halting all commercial traffic. The locks at Alton and Granite City, Ill., were closed when the high water made the lock equipment inoperable. Locks at Clarksville and Winfield, Mo. were closed Sunday. Both the Illinois and Missouri rivers have also been closed to commercial barge traffic.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said bridges across the river were closed Monday at Alexandria, Canton, La Grange, Hannibal, Louisiana, St. Mary's and Cape Girardeau, Mo., and Chester, Ill. Only bridges at St. Louis and Cairo, Ill., remained open.

Officials called the flood situation at Cape Girardeau "critical." A Corps spokesman said volunteers are needed to sandbag levees from Kaskaskai Island, south of St. Louis, to Miller City, Ill. 25 miles south of Cape Girardeau. The river was expected to crest at 44 feet at Cape Girardeau later this week. It stood at 408 feet Monday.

Nearly 1,000 Missouri National Guardsmen have been called to duty to provide equipment, to help with sandbagging and to patrol small communities.

remodeling the balcony above the Circuit Courtroom for one of the offices has also been discussed.

Both sides and the court agreed that an elevator would benefit everyone by permitting all three floors of the courthouse to be used.

The court has received a letter from Bill Burlison, 10th District Congressman, requesting the court to present an estimate of how much flood damage has been done in the Scott County area.

The court said a report could not be given to Burlison until the water recedes.

Reagan Harris of the Scott County Highway Department, reported on the condition of bridges and roads.

According to Harris, at least eight bridges have been damaged and are practically impossible to use.

watch on the river and weather conditions.

He said the levees are adequate and can handle the flood stage without fear of breaking, at this time. "What we must watch for now is damage to the levees. It is not a matter of levee failure," Hume said.

The state highway department in Sikeston reported the following roads closed this morning, with a possibility of more to be closed later in the day:

In Scott County, Route E at Commerce is closed.

In Stoddard County, Route BB, Route K, Route M, Route Y at the Junction of Routes AB and Y, Route N, and Route Y south to AB and Route A, are also closed.

The Mississippi County, those closed are Highway 77 between Routes AA and A, Highway 102 from the levee south to YY, Route MM, Route VV Route YY and Route PP. Route B between C and Highway 80 has water over it but was not closed this morning.

In New Madrid County, those closed are Route P, Route AB, Route WW from Route P east to AB, Highway 162 east to the end at Portageville and Route U.

In Bollinger County those closed are Route U, Route T, Route H and Route Y between N and the railroad tracks.

In Butler County, those closed are Highway 158 between Qulin and Poplar Bluff, Highway 142 from Highway 158 to Route H, Route M, and Route N.

In Cape Girardeau County, Highway 25, Route N and Route U are closed.

In Pemiscot County those closed are Route P from Route A to the K junction, Route K from Route P and K junction west.

In Ripley County those closed are Route H, Route W, Highway 142 from Highway 67 in Butler County to Naylor.

In Wayne County, those closed are Route TT and Route FF, two and one half miles west of 67.

There are four inches of water over Interstate 55 north of Highway 80 in New Madrid County in the southbound lane, but the road is still passable.

New river crests are forecast as follows: Chester, 42 feet on Saturday; Cape Girardeau 45 feet Sunday; New Madrid, 42.5 feet Monday; Golconda, 40 feet Friday; Paducah, 43 feet Saturday; and Cairo, 54.5 feet Sunday.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain and soybean futures prices were generally weak in early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

The opening in the oats pits was delayed for 15 minutes because of back room problems in some commodity firms, generated by Monday's heavy volume of trade in oats.

On the opening, wheat was 1¼ cents a bushel lower to ½ higher, May 2.48; corn was ¾ to 2¼ lower, May 1.59½ and soybeans were 4¾ lower to 3¼ higher, May 6.57.

Police are apt to frown on people taking taxis.

Pioneering, '73: having to use a hand can opener when the electric breaks down.
